Will See If It Yielded Vital Information

U.S. Experts Sift Preliminary Data From First A-Test In New Series

WASHINGTON (AP)—Scientists today checked preliminary data from the first blast in the new U.S. nuclear test series to see if it yielded significant information on improving the efficiency of American atomic weapons.

The new series got under way Wednesday over remote Christmas Island in the Pacific with the explosion of a research and development device, rather than a finished atomic weapon. A similar device likely will be used for the second blast—expected in a few days—as the United States pursues one of the major goals of the new test series: greater weapons efficiency.

Reaction in the wake of the opening blast was as expected. In Congress, Democratic and Republican leaders said there had been no alternative but to test again in the atmosphere, the Soviet Union loosed a vehement attack on the United States and from other nations there was a mixed chorus of denunciation and approval.

Some U.S. officials predicted anew that Russia would now follow through—and soon—with another test series of her own.

Informed sources suggested that the leadoff U.S. device in Operation Dominic, the name given to the first U.S. atmospheric tests in almost four years, probably rocked the Pacific waters with the blast equivalent of 100,000 to 500,000 tons of TNT. In a terse announcement, similar in style to those that followed 29 announced underground tests, the Atomic Energy Commission described Wednesday's blast as "in the intermediate yield range." Other sources said word from Task Force 8 in the test area was that the firing was successful.

The device apparently was 5 to 25 times more powerful than the bomb that leveled Hiroshima toward the end of World War II. But it was weak in comparison with some of this country's hydrogen bombs, rated at an explosive equivalent of 20 million tons of TNT.

The opening test device was dropped from an airplane, probably a B52 or B47 bomber. This indicated the explosion may have occurred below 30,000 feet—a relatively low level blast.

Later shots, around Johnston Island, will include some at high altitudes ranging from 30 to several hundred miles above the Pacific. These probably will be propelled upward by missiles.

Sources said the device detonated Wednesday was monitored by sensitive instruments geared to absorb a variety of information.

The blast force, the characteristics of the fire ball, the heat generated — all will indicate whether the laboratory experiments and calculations have put U.S. atomic scientists on the track of improving the efficiency of this country's warheads and bombs.

A premium has been placed on packing more explosive power into smaller warheads because this would increase the destructive capability of U.S. missiles.

Major Space Advance

U.S. Space Vehicle Crash-Lands Into Far Side Of Moon

New Saturn Space Effort Due In '64

Seen As Big Step To Place Craft On Moon This Decade

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The great Saturn rocket is on schedule on a timetable to boost the three-man Apollo spaceship into orbit in late 1964—an important step toward placing the craft on the moon in this decade.

That was the status report given by Dr. Wernher von Braun Wednesday after the second straight successful test-firing of the huge eight-engine booster.

Pouring 1.3 million pounds of thrust from the first-stage power plant, the 162-foot Saturn roared into a clear sky in an awesome display of flame and noise. The engines, spewing a 300-foot tail of fire, burned out as intended 115 seconds after launching, at an altitude of 35 miles, in what one National Aeronautics and Space Administration spokesman termed a 100 per cent successful performance.

The vehicle coasted upward to an altitude of 65 miles and there was destroyed deliberately by an electronic signal beamed from Cape Canaveral.

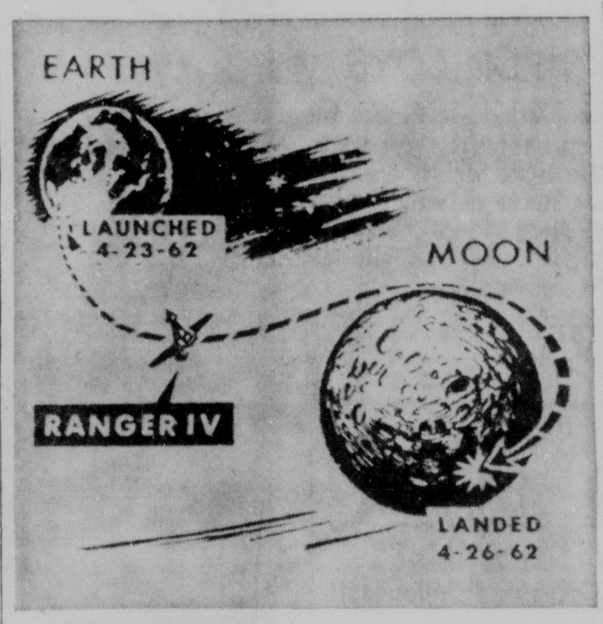
As the Saturn ripped apart, 95 tons of water carried for ballast in two dummy upper stages poured into the rarified air of the upper atmosphere and blossomed into a massive cloud of ice flakes. The cloud expanded in two seconds to a diameter of 8 to 10 miles and 12 seconds later dissipated in the atmosphere.

The unloosing of the water was a secondary scientific experiment designed to gather data on "how quickly the equilibrium would establish itself in the upper atmosphere after it had been disturbed by sudden introduction of the water."

A radar device in a tracking plane detected "electrical discharge phenomena" near the cloud. This was created by ice droplets of different sizes striking one another, causing friction. Study of data from the experiment may take weeks.

Despite two complete successful flights of the world's largest known rocket, Saturn will not soon overcome the Soviet lead over the United States in booster power.

The Russians are using a rocket with estimated thrust of one million pounds for manned and unmanned space flights.



AMERICA SCORED AN HISTORIC space triumph today when its Ranger 4 spacecraft boomeranged into the far side of the moon. Marks First Success In 7 Attempts

Ranger 4 Failed In Major Mission To Take Photographs

GOLDSTONE, Calif. (AP)—The United States scored a major advance in space today when the crippled spacecraft Ranger 4 crash-landed on the far side of the moon.

It was this country's first success in seven attempts to land a piece of hardware on the moon and virtually duplicated the feat of Russia's Lunik II which hit the moon Sept. 12, 1959.

A space official called the feat another of the long strides in space made in the past year.

James E. Webb, head of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, told newsmen Ranger 4 was much more complex than anything the Soviets have attempted.

Dr. William Pickering, director of NASA's jet propulsion laboratory which built Ranger 4, said that despite the failure of a key electronic system in the spacecraft the fact that it hit the moon "gives us confidence we can send instruments to the moon with the accuracy needed."

He said another Ranger to take close-up television pictures of the moon's surface will be launched by the end of the year.

The crippled Ranger 4 zipped behind the moon at 4:47 a.m., PST (7:47 a.m., EST) and the scientists tracking it calculated that it impacted on the far side two minutes later.

Although there was no way of seeing the actual impact, scientists said Ranger 4's trajectory before passing behind the moon assured that it would land in the predicted area.

The 780-pound vehicle, launched from Cape Canaveral, Fla., Monday, made the 231,468-mile journey to the moon in 64 hours.

It passed the sunlit left half of the moon at an altitude of about 900 miles, aimed at a spot one-fourth of the way around on the back side.

Scientists calculated its speed at impact at 5,963 miles an hour.

Electronic failures kept Ranger 4 from completing most of its missions. It carried several scientific instruments, including a television camera to take close-up pictures of the moon's surface. But a timer designed to operate these devices went haywire shortly after launch.

Scientists at the jet propulsion laboratory, where Ranger 4 was built, tracked its faint radio bea-

Split Senate GOP Fights Public Works

Proposal Branded Raid On Treasury, Political Weapon

WASHINGTON (AP)—Divided Senate Republicans fought a rear guard action today against a $2.6 billion public works proposal they called a raid on the Treasury and a potential presidential political weapon.

The tactical difficulty faced by the six GOP members of the Senate Public Works Committee—and it was shared by most of their party colleagues—lay in opposing the administration's proposal without being tagged as against public works.

Sen. Winston L. Prouty, R-N.H., who foresaw possible effective political use of the program by President Kennedy, promised to come up with an alternative when the committee-approved measure is laid before the Senate later.

Prouty's aides said this was likely to be in the form of an amendment to limit presidentially directed expenditures to $600 million for chronic unemployment areas and to projects already authorized by Congress.

The Republicans generally appeared willing to take the political chance of opposing a long range provision under which Kennedy would be authorized to spend up

70 Battle Fire Over Tract In Glasgow Area

300 Acres Charred In Another Blaze In Empire District

Fifty acres of woods and brushland were burned over and the porch of an unoccupied home destroyed in a blaze in the Glasgow area along Route 45 battled by some 70 firemen and volunteers Wednesday, while 300 acres were charred in another large fire near Empire.

The porch of an old home used for storage was burned and some outbuildings damaged in the Route 45 district blaze which broke out about 10 a. m. in the Glasgow and Township Line Rd. area, and continued to burn until after dark at places.

The flames destroyed the porch of the structure owned by Hiram Moore of Cameron Rd. and used for storage, according to Fire Chief Robert Lewis of Wellsville.

The front of the building was also damaged, but firemen managed to save the home. Other buildings on the property were scorched, he added.

State forestry officials said there are three different reports on how the fire began, and an investigation is under way. The blaze apparently ignited from someone burning brush or trash.

The fire tower at West Point had initially reported two separate blazes at Glasgow and Township Line Rd., but said today the fires were the same.

Wellsville, Glenmoor, Highlandtown and West Point firemen fought the flames, along with

Five Spellers From County Await Finals

Five champion spellers from Columbiana County, including three from East Liverpool, are awaiting the regional finals Friday night at Canton Timken High School.

Qualifying in a countywide spelling bee, the young spellers will join 33 others from Stark, Carroll, Tuscarawas and Holmes counties in the word battle to earn a trip to the national championship in Washington.

16 Receive Petitions To Seek Vote On Tax

Petitions which will be circulated to seek a vote on the new city income tax at the November general election were distributed to 16 persons Wednesday night at a special meeting of Trades and Labor Council at the old IBOP Building.

The prospective circulators were instructed to return the petitions by July 21, Joseph A. Winters, secretary of the central body reported. They must be filed with City Auditor Lawrence C. Applegate at least 100 days prior to the election.

Trades Council voted in mid-March to seek a test of the tax at the polls. It was enacted by City Council March 2.

Filibuster Ruled Out

Dixie Senators Spur Bid Against Literacy Test Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—Southern senators pushed ahead today with their fight against the administration's voter literacy test bill after a trial by physical stamina was ruled out by Senate leaders.

"Insofar as the leadership is concerned, it expects this debate to take place within regular working hours and with the Senate otherwise functioning in a normal fashion," said Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana.

Mansfield laid out the course after he got the bill before the Senate by offering it as a substitute for a private relief bill already up for action.

He was joined in this maneuver by Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois.

With Southern foes vowing to do all they can to prevent passage, the showdown will come when the two party leaders attempt to muster the two-thirds majority required by the rules to halt a filibuster.

Indications are, however, that a move to cut off debate will not be made for 10 days to two weeks.

The measure is aimed at use of literacy tests to keep members of minority groups from voting. Discriminatory registrars use the tests to keep Negroes from voting in some Southern areas, the administration contends.

The bill would exempt anyone with a 6th-grade education from having to pass a state literacy test to qualify to vote in presidential and congressional elections.

Sen. Herman Talmadge, D-Ga., scheduled lead-off man for the Dixie forces today, said in his prepared speech that the bill "not only is clearly not needed but also is patently unconstitutional."

Brokaw Eyes Rehearing In Jobs Dispute

County Prosecutor G. William Brokaw is preparing to file for a rehearing before the Ohio Supreme Court in connection with the recent ruling restoring four Democrat - appointed Courthouse workers to their jobs.

The prosecutor has advised the court at Columbus he plans to formally file for a rehearing on the action of Miss Patricia Barborak of West Point, microfilm operator, against County Commissioner Walter Hunston for return to her job from which she was dismissed by the GOP-dominated commissioners in February 1961.

The high court has ruled Miss Barborak and three other women are to be restored their positions, but without back pay. The court had ruled on an appeal of a 7th District Appellate Court decision

Trials To Start With Man In Store Holdup

LISBON — Prosecutor G. William Brokaw said today he will begin criminal trials this term with James Booher, 25, of Poland, indicted for the armed robbery of Ferguson's Market on Route 7 March 21.

Booher plead innocent at arraignment before Common Pleas Judge Joel H. Sharp, who will preside over trials this term.

A venire of 30 prospective jurors was summoned to report Monday, along with those remaining from the first 50 called for the Grand Jury.

A civil suit, also requiring a jury, will begin Monday before Judge Raymond S. Buzzard and jurors not selected for the criminal trial will be sent to the civil trial.

Gosney Wins Support For District Party Job

The East Liverpool Men's Democratic Club, meeting Wednesday night at the Travelers Hotel, unanimously endorsed Don R. Gosney of Columbiana for re-election at the May 8 primaries as state central committeeman from the 18th Congressional District.

Donald Hancock, president, reported the club "discussed Gosney's qualifications and long record of service as county chairman and unanimously endorsed him" for re-election. Gosney is in a three-way race against John Taylor of Salem, former state senator, and John Targoss of Steubenville.

The club discussed a fish fry to be held within the next few weeks, but no definite date was set. Plans were advanced for the annual picnic Aug. 26 at Lake Arrowhead, near Columbiana. Next meeting is May 15 at the hotel.

Street Problems? City Has 'Em

North Side, East End — "all around the town" — miles and miles of streets and sidewalks provide the only physical link between the average East Liverpool householder and his job, neighbor, recreation, food, furnishings and fortune.

From obstetrics ward to cemetery, these highways and byways serve as a community stage on which a significant part of each citizen's life is spent playing, walking, talking or riding.

AND THE biggest part of his city's tax money is used for repairs, maintenance, improvement or services connected with community arteries.

Taken for granted when their surfaces are smooth and properly drained, these stretches of concrete, brick and asphalt are the No. 1 headache for drivers and pedestrians when pitted, buckled, snow-covered, dusty or flooded.

And the major symptom of this headache — the old - fashioned gripe — is often relayed right to City Hall where officials say telephone calls from citizens are chiefly concerned with streets.

Last month—in the midst of winter's worst barrage of chuck holes, slush and icy patches — Mayor Bert Goodballet estimated 90 per cent of calls to his office or to the safety-service director were about streets.

OF THE city's annual expense total of $1.8 million, the largest single outlay of money goes to service for the streets—either on repairs, lighting, parking programs, police protection, traffic signals, engineering or other related and necessary provisions.

In 1960, for example, $129,719 was spent on repairs and maintenance, $33,551 on street lighting, $3,167 on signs, $18,875 for parking meter service and $3,768 for traffic light inspections.

In addition, the major portions of the police department's allotment of $133,391 was spent on patrol of the streets, traffic direction or arrest of drivers.

Expenses of the city engineer's office, the safety director and other officials were related to streets in many ways, and Municipal Court dispensed justice in a multitude of cases concerning street or sidewalk violations.

EVEN CITY firemen were summoned to flush streets or to handle other curbside emergencies. And the dog warden's clientele came chiefly from the public domain, even if many offenses were on private property.

The city's rolling topography is at least one cause of the street problem.

Streets on grades are more difficult to construct, receive more damage from surface water and frost and require more winter servicing with cinders and salt to provide traction for traffic.

The very nature of the hills and valleys has brought about a converging pattern of streets at awkward angles, making traffic flow difficult and confusing for the stranger accustomed to the con-

North Side, East End — "all around the town" — miles and miles of streets and sidewalks provide the only physical link between the average East Liverpool householder and his job, neighbor, recreation, food, furnishings and fortune.

From obstetrics ward to cemetery, these highways and byways serve as a community stage on which a significant part of each citizen's life is spent playing, walking, talking or riding.

AND THE biggest part of his city's tax money is used for repairs, maintenance, improvement or services connected with community arteries.

Taken for granted when their surfaces are smooth and properly drained, these stretches of concrete, brick and asphalt are the No. 1 headache for drivers and pedestrians when pitted, buckled, snow-covered, dusty or flooded.

And the major symptom of this headache — the old - fashioned gripe — is often relayed right to City Hall where officials say telephone calls from citizens are chiefly concerned with streets.

Last month—in the midst of winter's worst barrage of chuck holes, slush and icy patches — Mayor Bert Goodballet estimated 90 per cent of calls to his office or to the safety-service director were about streets.

OF THE city's annual expense total of $1.8 million, the largest single outlay of money goes to service for the streets—either on repairs, lighting, parking programs, police protection, traffic signals, engineering or other related and necessary provisions.

In 1960, for example, $129,719 was spent on repairs and maintenance, $33,551 on street lighting, $3,167 on signs, $18,875 for parking meter service and $3,768 for traffic light inspections.

In addition, the major portions of the police department's allotment of $133,391 was spent on patrol of the streets, traffic direction or arrest of drivers.

Expenses of the city engineer's office, the safety director and other officials were related to streets in many ways, and Municipal Court dispensed justice in a multitude of cases concerning street or sidewalk violations.

EVEN CITY firemen were summoned to flush streets or to handle other curbside emergencies. And the dog warden's clientele came chiefly from the public domain, even if many offenses were on private property.

The city's rolling topography is at least one cause of the street problem.

Streets on grades are more difficult to construct, receive more damage from surface water and frost and require more winter servicing with cinders and salt to provide traction for traffic.

The very nature of the hills and valleys has brought about a converging pattern of streets at awkward angles, making traffic flow difficult and confusing for the stranger accustomed to the con-

Trials To Start With Man In Store Holdup

LISBON — Prosecutor G. William Brokaw said today he will begin criminal trials this term with James Booher, 25, of Poland, indicted for the armed robbery of Ferguson's Market on Route 7 March 21.

Booher plead innocent at arraignment before Common Pleas Judge Joel H. Sharp, who will preside over trials this term.

A venire of 30 prospective jurors was summoned to report Monday, along with those remaining from the first 50 called for the Grand Jury.

A civil suit, also requiring a jury, will begin Monday before Judge Raymond S. Buzzard and jurors not selected for the criminal trial will be sent to the civil trial.

Gosney Wins Support For District Party Job

The East Liverpool Men's Democratic Club, meeting Wednesday night at the Travelers Hotel, unanimously endorsed Don R. Gosney of Columbiana for re-election at the May 8 primaries as state central committeeman from the 18th Congressional District.

Donald Hancock, president, reported the club "discussed Gosney's qualifications and long record of service as county chairman and unanimously endorsed him" for re-election. Gosney is in a three-way race against John Taylor of Salem, former state senator, and John Targoss of Steubenville.

The club discussed a fish fry to be held within the next few weeks, but no definite date was set. Plans were advanced for the annual picnic Aug. 26 at Lake Arrowhead, near Columbiana. Next meeting is May 15 at the hotel.

Judge Will Study Traffic Charge

Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff today took under advisement a case in which Raymond H. Boso of 5th Ave., LaCroft, is accused of driving left of center in connection with a LaCroft traffic mishap Tuesday.

The State Highway Patrol alleged he halted on Homestead Ave. for a stop sign, then swung too wide in pulling onto 5th Ave., striking the car of Jessie Dennis of Hillcrest Rd., Wellsville.

Boso testified his view of the intersection was blocked by a high hedge and that two steel posts at the corner make it impossible to round the turn properly. He said he was watching for school children walking along the street and did not see the other car.

The judge continued the case until May 9 for sentencing and asked Boso to present proof he has made arrangements to pay for damage to the Dennis car.

Volunteer firemen from Pughtown and New Cumberland were battling a grass fire late this morning between Routes 66 and 2 near the Crescent Brick Co. Newell volunteer firemen were called by the sheriff's office about 11:15 to aid in fighting the fire.

Walk Project Will Interrupt City Lot's Use

A parking ban will go into effect Saturday on the new off-street municipal lot on the former Ceramic Theater site while the city moves in material for forms in preparation for construction of two concrete sidewalks, Safety - Service Director Robert Owen said today.

Barricades probably will be erected to keep autos off the lot, which has been used for free parking since a slag surface was installed in March, the director said.

The street department will begin moving in the material for the forms Saturday. Construction of the forms probably will begin Monday.

Two sidewalks will be installed for the entire depth of the lot—from Church Alley to E. 4th St. The city is scheduled to award contracts later for blacktop surfacing of the property and installation of about 39 parking meters.

There will be two lanes of parallel parking on the east side of the lot, separated by a walk that will be about seven feet wide. Next there will be a driveway, also for the full depth of the lot between the alley and E. 4th St. The driveway will be about 26 feet wide.

On the extreme west end of the lot, adjacent to the McLain Building, will be another walk approximately six feet wide. The lot is bounded on the east by Crook Alley. The two walks and the driveway will be parallel with Crook Alley.

The city acquired the huge old theater building late in 1961 and razed it to clear the site for municipal parking. Revenue from the meters will be used to retire bonds that were issued to cover the cost of the purchase, razing, blacktopping and meter purchase.

Moonshot

con at the Goldstone tracking station on the Mojave Desert 50 miles north of Barstow, Calif.

The first light of dawn was spreading across the desert as Ranger 4 neared its target. A flashing red light at the base of the huge antenna warned ground personnel that Operation Moon Track was in progress.

In a building at the base of the antenna, observers watching a closed-circuit television screen saw the cross-hairs of a simulated gun sight slowly approach the left side of the moon.

The cross-hairs indicated Ranger 4's position as it streaked through space. The seven-foot-long vehicle itself was, of course, too small to be detected visually.

Then the cross-hairs of the gun sight touched the edge of the moon.

The impact area is on part of the moon never seen from the earth. The moon always keeps the same side toward this planet.

So the only way to look at the back side is to go there.

The area was photographed in 1959 by a Russian Lunik. Television shots relayed to earth showed the area to be a rough upland, devoid of the great, flat areas—called seas—visible on the moon's front side.

Ranger was supposed to do much more than just smash into the moon.

From 1921 through 1934 geldings were barred from the Preakness.

Brush Fires

five forestry firemen assisted by a state airplane. Volunteer workers and Boy Scouts assisted.

A Boy Scout cabin was threatened at one time, the tower reported. Most of the fire-fighters were recalled about 4 p. m., but volunteers remained on standby last night.

Straiton, Empire, Pleasant Hill volunteer firemen and a forestry crew from Scio and Charles Heffner, state fire fighter, battled the extensive blaze near Empire which began about 10:15 a. m. and was finally quelled at 9:45 p. m.

An outshed was burned in the blaze. There were three minor blazes near Mechanicstown in Carroll County.

A brush fire also swept an area near Calcutta yesterday, in the Route 30-Route 170 area, but the tower had no detailed report.

The fire tower and Lewis said hazardous conditions continued today, with low humidity and wind.

Lewis urged that any outdoors burning be halted until rain lessens the threat of further blazes.

Judge Will Study Traffic Charge

Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff today took under advisement a case in which Raymond H. Boso of 5th Ave., LaCroft, is accused of driving left of center in connection with a LaCroft traffic mishap Tuesday.

The State Highway Patrol alleged he halted on Homestead Ave. for a stop sign, then swung too wide in pulling onto 5th Ave., striking the car of Jessie Dennis of Hillcrest Rd., Wellsville.

Boso testified his view of the intersection was blocked by a high hedge and that two steel posts at the corner make it impossible to round the turn properly. He said he was watching for school children walking along the street and did not see the other car.

The judge continued the case until May 9 for sentencing and asked Boso to present proof he has made arrangements to pay for damage to the Dennis car.

Grass Fire Fought

Volunteer firemen from Pughtown and New Cumberland were battling a grass fire late this morning between Routes 66 and 2 near the Crescent Brick Co. The Hancock County sheriff's office said the fire was burning across the hillside area from Route 66 toward Route 2. Newell volunteer firemen were called by the sheriff's office about 11:15 to aid in fighting the fire.

Walk Project Will Interrupt City Lot's Use

A parking ban will go into effect Saturday on the new off-street municipal lot on the former Ceramic Theater site while the city moves in material for forms in preparation for construction of two concrete sidewalks, Safety - Service Director Robert Owen said today.

Barricades probably will be erected to keep autos off the lot, which has been used for free parking since a slag surface was installed in March, the director said.

The street department will begin moving in the material for the forms Saturday. Construction of the forms probably will begin Monday.

Two sidewalks will be installed for the entire depth of the lot—from Church Alley to E. 4th St. The city is scheduled to award contracts later for blacktop surfacing of the property and installation of about 39 parking meters.

There will be two lanes of parallel parking on the east side of the lot, separated by a walk that will be about seven feet wide. Next there will be a driveway, also for the full depth of the lot between the alley and E. 4th St. The driveway will be about 26 feet wide.

On the extreme west end of the lot, adjacent to the McLain Building, will be another walk approximately six feet wide. The lot is bounded on the east by Crook Alley. The two walks and the driveway will be parallel with Crook Alley.

The city acquired the huge old theater building late in 1961 and razed it to clear the site for municipal parking. Revenue from the meters will be used to retire bonds that were issued to cover the cost of the purchase, razing, blacktopping and meter purchase.

Moonshot

con at the Goldstone tracking station on the Mojave Desert 50 miles north of Barstow, Calif.

The first light of dawn was spreading across the desert as Ranger 4 neared its target. A flashing red light at the base of the huge antenna warned ground personnel that Operation Moon Track was in progress.

In a building at the base of the antenna, observers watching a closed-circuit television screen saw the cross-hairs of a simulated gun sight slowly approach the left side of the moon.

The cross-hairs indicated Ranger 4's position as it streaked through space. The seven-foot-long vehicle itself was, of course, too small to be detected visually.

Then the cross-hairs of the gun sight touched the edge of the moon.

The impact area is on part of the moon never seen from the earth. The moon always keeps the same side toward this planet.

So the only way to look at the back side is to go there.

The area was photographed in 1959 by a Russian Lunik. Television shots relayed to earth showed the area to be a rough upland, devoid of the great, flat areas—called seas—visible on the moon's front side.

Ranger was supposed to do much more than just smash into the moon.

From 1921 through 1934 geldings were barred from the Preakness.

Brush Fires

five forestry firemen assisted by a state airplane. Volunteer workers and Boy Scouts assisted.

A Boy Scout cabin was threatened at one time, the tower reported. Most of the fire-fighters were recalled about 4 p. m., but volunteers remained on standby last night.

Straiton, Empire, Pleasant Hill volunteer firemen and a forestry crew from Scio and Charles Heffner, state fire fighter, battled the extensive blaze near Empire which began about 10:15 a. m. and was finally quelled at 9:45 p. m.

An outshed was burned in the blaze. There were three minor blazes near Mechanicstown in Carroll County.

A brush fire also swept an area near Calcutta yesterday, in the Route 30-Route 170 area, but the tower had no detailed report.

The fire tower and Lewis said hazardous conditions continued today, with low humidity and wind.

Lewis urged that any outdoors burning be halted until rain lessens the threat of further blazes.

2 From County To Be Cited By Patrol Auxiliary

Christ Pallis of Avondale St. and Merle Burson of Lisbon, members of the Columbiana County Highway Patrol Auxiliary for 20 years, will be among veteran members to be honored at the state convention of the auxiliary Saturday and Sunday at Columbus.

About 15 members of the county auxiliary plan to attend the event at which the 20th anniversary of the founding of the auxiliary will be commemorated.

Gov. Michael DiSalle and Col. Scott Radcliffe, patrol superintendent, are among those slated to speak.

There are other men in the county group who have served 20 years, but will not attend. City men planning to go to the session besides Pallis are Clayton Aughinbaugh, Ray Cunningham and Robert Boyd.

Sgt. E. M. Mallery of the patrol at Lisbon and three patrolmen also plan to attend.

What About Big Labor?

No public event in years has been combed over and picked to pieces more thoroughly than President Kennedy's slapdown of the steel industry when some of its largest corporations declared they had raised prices.

Nevertheless, this point has been missed:

The surprise in the angry presidential reaction was not aused by the fact its victim was the steel industry but by the fact presidential anger had found a target and scored a clean hit when the decision to raise prices was rescinded.

After the initial reaction of astonishment that the White House and Big Steel had swapped blows, the next reaction was to wonder if the White House would swing from the floor the next time its prestige was challenged.

VICTOR RIESEL hints the next time may be a drive for a 25-hour week by the New York City Central Labor Council AFL-CIO. This would make all the possible inflation in a $6 boost in the tonnage price of steel look like the price of a stick of gum if a 25-hour week put downs roots in New York and was imitated throughout the country.

What would President Kennedy do about that kind of inflation? Would he demand cancellation of the action? A congressional investigation? A Department of Justice investigation? New laws to restrain labor unions?

Would he unlimber all the power of the federal government to make it known he would order federal contracts to be shifted away from unionists sharing in the policy he disliked? Would he bring as much pure, unalloyed joy to the hearts of those who think unionists go too far in collusive tactics as he brought to the hearts of those who wonder about the "separate but equal" status of steel producers?

IF SO, President Kennedy could become the most popular chief executive of this era. He would satisfy a need that is aching from neglect.

He would convince the people of the United States that their man in the White House was capable of swinging from the floor against all offenders.

He would prove to them that labor unions could be chastised and tongue-lashed to the accompanying cheers of a long-suffering public too.

We still don't believe the steel corporations deserved what they got, but it is admittedly what most people wanted them to get. It was splendid politics, no doubt of that.

It would be equally splendid politics to see the next inflationary move by labor unions stopped in its tracks. President Kennedy might be bowled over by the discovery that what his countrymen really resent is a sense of being squeezed by power beyond their control, regardless of who holds the power.

They're waiting for him to drop the other shoe—the one labeled "Willingness To Swing at Big Labor."

Nothing To Get Angry About

No one can expect fairness and mildness to be stronger than prejudice and anger in racial issues.

But before prejudice and anger explode out of control in the latest move by southern white supremacists to embarrass northern critics, their scheme to hasten emigration to northern states of southern Negroes who want to leave should be viewed objectively.

It is not a new idea. It would be an adaptation of an idea that already has caused thousands of southern Negroes to leave home at their own expense to find better lives in nonsegregation states.

It would not have a major impact. White supremacists would not underwrite a program on a scale to be of any importance relative to the size of the massive migration still taking place.

It would have a strong appeal, on the other hand, to southern Negroes who want to leave home to seek better lives elsewhere. Many would jump at a chance to start over if they could afford to make the move to the North.

This would be a psychological boomerang against white supremacists.

They would stand accused of giving the Deep South a kick in the teeth by showing the extent of discontent among its Negro citizens.

They might even stand accused of sending away one of the prime reasons their business boomers have been giving northern industrialists for moving factories to southern states — a bountiful supply of low-cost labor.

And surely they would stand accused by some southerners of suggesting a comparison between emigration from East Germany and the motives of their own negroes for wanting to get away from what always has been referred to by southerners as a magnolia-scented paradise.

If things like these are borne in mind, at the expense of not flaring up in anger, the Reverse Freedom Rides that have come into the news will lose their zip before anyone has had time to run a temperature about them.

'Ouch' Time Again

Now comes that time of year when young men's hearts twitch lightly, and everyone's thoughts turn to the outdoors for recreation, lawn work, house repairs and various pursuits — all entailing risks to life and limb.

Power mowers, picket fences, baseball bats, bicycles, croquet balls, swimming holes, odd-sized stones, ill-tempered insects, charcoal grills and glass bottles will take their toll this spring and summer.

Be careful. Daylight Saving Time should bring a season of suntan lotion and picnic plates, not bandages and merthiolate...

Shots Fired In Mortal Combat

What would you do about a Purple Heart for an Army sergeant wounded in South Viet Nam? You think you would have given it to him because he was hurt in the course of carrying out his duties in that faraway place as a member of the U.S. Army 8th Light Helicopter Company?

But before the thing could have been done that easily it would have had to go through channels, and in due time it would have been pointed out that the Purple Heart is a decoration for those wounded in combat. The United States is not in combat in South Viet Nam.

U.S. military personnel stationed there can be injured and hurt, but technically cannot be wounded. The sergeant who claims he should have been awarded a Purple Heart for his injuries was hurt accidentally. A bullet fired at a helicopter struck an object that splintered and a fragment struck him in the leg.

The fact the bullet was fired in mortal combat in an action that is spoken of as "war in Viet Nam" is not consequential. The sergeant himself was a bystander—not an innocent bystander, perhaps, but most assuredly a helpless bystander because he was under orders to hold his fire unless attacked directly.

It's very puzzling when you stop to think about it, but it's one instance when everybody needs to stop to think about it, because if the pretext that the United States is not at war in South Viet Nam collapses the United States will be at war there officially. There will be a state of war and many things will have to be done accordingly.

May the sergeant be made whole again and may such insanity as wars that are not called wars lest they have to be fought like wars cease before they lead to destruction of what little remains of old-fashioned objectivity.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Editors and publishers from all over America meet in annual convention in New York. Why no ticker tape parade? These men do one of the most important jobs for country, many of them in an incredible determination to survive the hard way.

Few businesses have a greater supply of headaches and hazards. Many a publisher in small and big communities belongs up there with heroes in ticker tape ceremonials.

But they hear few cheers. They can do a notable civic service and get denounced for a wrong weather forecast. It is a profession where men can help rescue a city from flood, fire or earthquake and find the morning mail full of complaints that here was a typographical error in a tide table, a two-second mistake in the sunrise and a wrong middle initial in an obituary.

In few fields is the old line, "You don't have to be crazy to take on this sort of work but it helps," so true.

A publisher and editor are in a business where their performance is in full view of the public daily for a nickel or a dime.

Policy, goals, routines, methods and actions are open for all to see play by play, groan by groan, headache by headache and aspirin tablet by aspirin tablet. Goldfish are comparatively invisible.

A publisher, even if he is barely making both ends meet and close to being a hospital case, is expected by public to be a physical giant, a mental wonder, a prophet, guide, adviser, consultant, intrepid battler, freehold wrestler, crusader and all-American fullback.

In annual convention he is supposed to be still engulfed in business worries, but in fact its the one week in which he can sleep 10 minutes longer, get at least an hour for lunch and forget his blood pressure.

WHAT DOES STENGEL say on his way to the mound these days? Our guess is that on most of the trip he keeps mumbling, "How can I criticize the players for not being smart when I must admit I took this job voluntarily?"

FBI Agents' Action Defended

By Victor Riesel

If anyone thinks this is a defense of the FBI—they're right. It is.

Victor Riesel

Much has been written scathingly about the Bureau's "dawn patrol" which awakened two reporters. The newsmen were not accused of anything. Their cooperation was asked so the President of the United States could have the information he wanted by 7 a.m. That was the reported deadline.

"Dawn Patrol," which was meant by some commentators to insult the bureau, is nonetheless an apt phrase. Working round the clock without extra pay or time off becomes habit to the FBI's agents. In 1960, they put in a total of 3.42 million hours. This meant an average contribution to the decencies, the law and order and security of the land of 72 extra days a year. And not an extra nickel for such overtime.

And in all the complexities, the weariness, the frustrations and the temptations to move in fast, there have been no violations of civil rights. In fact, the bureau's scientific evidence has won a record 97 per cent of convictions in cases handled by J. Edgar Hoover's men.

ONLY RECENTLY, that unhappy man, Irving C. Scarbeck, went the way of some flesh, and, as the then second secretary of the U.S. Embassy in Warsaw, handed official secrets on to the Communist apparatus. He got 30 years.

It was a tough rap. But he had his attorney officially advise J. Edgar Hoover that the FBI's agents always were gentlemen. On all occasions, said the counselor, the G-men informed Scarbeck of his constitutional rights.

Many have forgotten the Amerasia Case. One of this magazine's editors was accused of making off with vital classified federal documents. Two FBI men were directed to interview a witness. The men learned she was pregnant. Because they thought she might be upset, they took with them a registered nurse to comfort the woman. Where else would it happen?

I know of one case in which six FBI men were ordered to make an arrest in a rural area. They were attacked by angry pitchfork wielders. The agents made their arrests as peacefully as they could. While trying to avoid striking back, three FBI men were gored.

One of the assailants was an older man. After the agents had taken the pitchforks from them, the older pitchfork wielder complained he just did not feel well.

THE VERY SAME agents he had just assaulted made him comfortable and ministered to him till a civilian doctor and ambulance could take over.

There is the case of two agents who sought out a writer and asked him many questions about a great movie star—now dead. The writer later excoriated them in a bitter magazine piece. He mocked them for using the word "communistic" instead of Communist without the "ic." To this day the writer does not know that the two agents had gone out to help the actor, whom some of us believed wrongly accused. Yet neither the agents nor the FBI ever protested the insult nor bore the writer any grudge.

Not always is it grim. There was the case of a fugitive from a Lancaster, Pa., county jail.

The FBI traced the escapee across country. They found him working for the North Pole Santa Claus Co., in a large store.

The agents waited patiently until the long line of children had sat on Santa's lap, told him what they wanted and had gone home happy. Then quietly they picked up the prisoner.

SURE IT'S CORNY. But remember, they would not spoil the kids' good time though it might have affected the agents' jobs if they had let him slip away in the crowd after finally locating him.

You and I, through our government, don't exactly pay lush salaries to the agents, yet they're never slow with a handout. Recently they tracked down a bank-robber hiding out in a dismally cheap Los Angeles hotel. The hood had a wife and child. They interviewed the wife. During the questioning they discovered the woman and the youngster had not eaten in a while. The family had no money, because the heister had been on the lam.

These same agents became baby sitters. They paid for food and new housing for the woman and child. The money for the food and rent came out of the FBI men's own pockets.

There are a thousand such stories. So what if they awakened a couple of newsmen. We've wakened them far more frequently. Why all the sniping?

Federal Pay Hikes

By David Lawrence

Boosts Would Affect Private Business

In these days when "non-inflationary" means that it's all right for wage costs to go up but that it is sinful to increase prices, the latest move by the administration to boost pay scales among government workers is just beginning to attract attention.

David Lawrence

President Kennedy has asked Congress to increase the wages of government workers by about $1.1 billion a year in separate stages over a period of three years. This amounts to a 10.2 per cent increase from the present scale.

A comparable increase in the rates of private wages and salaries would cost private business about $23.5 billion a year.

The U.S. Civil Service Commission has issued a comparison of federal salaries with those in various occupations. It is based on a Department of Labor study of professional, administrative, technical and clerical pay.

Up to now private business in some instances has had a higher wage rate in the higher brackets of clerical employes, and the government has regularly maintained a better position in the lower brackets. Now, however, if government rates go up, private business will find itself confronted with the necessity of pushing up many of its wage and salary scales.

President Kennedy's bill provides that, even when the salaries of government workers and those in private business reach approximately the same level, there must be an annual survey and adjustment of federal salaries to keep them equal to or above the private level.

Fringe benefits provided by the government are at least as generous as and often better than those granted to salaried workers in industry. The government worker, for example, is permitted to accumulate unused sick leave.

Under the proposed schedules, office boys who at present get $3,521 a year in government, as compared with $3,119 in private industry, would go up to $3,641.

A chief personnel director in government who now gets $12,745 would to up to $15,285, as compared with $14,532 in private business. Nearly 41 per cent of the stenographers in private business in America will be getting less than the proposed government minimum. It means, therefore, an upward pressure on wage scales inside industry and business.

THE ARGUMENT isn't whether these pay rates are justified in either case. If it be assumed that wage rates for white collar workers are, generally speaking, too low, the question is how industry and business are to get the additional funds to pay for their increases. The federal government has it easy. It merely gets Congress to increase the debt limit when tax receipts aren't enough to pay for federal spending.

Private industry, however, can only raise its prices or go broke. This is what is sometimes described as a wage-price spiral. President Kennedy has called for "stability" in both wages and prices but he seems to have ignored his own doctrine as he asks Congress to raise wage levels in government.

It will be argued that the government workers have been lagging behind and that all the administration is trying to do is to "catch up." That was precisely the language of the U.S. Steel Corp. as it recently called for a "partial catch-up" on its wage costs through a small price increase.

Those who may not realize how closely related government pay scales can be to private industry need only take note of a telegram just sent by 157 printing firms in Washington to President Kennedy and members of a committee in Congress. It reads as follows:

"Report of proposed 24 cents per hour increase to composing room employes at the government printing office is shocking. This compares with average increase of 9.3 cents per hour for same craft in commercial contracts negotiated throughout the United States in the last six months. Such proposed increase of 6.8 per cent contradicts administration policy of non-inflationary increases and would have nationwide impact."

FOR THE LAST 14 years it has been customary for the government printing office to use a weighted average of the union scales in 24 leading cities as complied by the U.S. Department of Labor. Now the formula has been changed to include the higher rates of pay among night workers and the monetary value of fringe benefits. This puts the private printing establishments in Washington on the spot and must inevitably result in increased prices to the public — unless the President steps in. Certainly there has been no consideration given to any productivity guidelines in this case.

The government's role in fixing wage costs is far reaching. Congress, which has the power to approve or disapprove the wage increases for government employes, is anxious to help the workers get better pay. The real point is whether Congress will help employers in private business to get higher prices, or whether the profit squeeze will continue to become more and more acute, thus forcing many marginal concerns out of business and leaving the field to the larger companies. Unemployment will thereby be increased.

This is not a partisan observation, but every time I see Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy perform in public I think of the good impression he must make on other people like me who also had grown tired of looking and listening to typical public employes.

What About Big Labor?

No public event in years has been combed over and picked to pieces more thoroughly than President Kennedy's slapdown of the steel industry when some of its largest corporations declared they had raised prices.

Nevertheless, this point has been missed:

The surprise in the angry presidential reaction was not aused by the fact its victim was the steel industry but by the fact presidential anger had found a target and scored a clean hit when the decision to raise prices was rescinded.

After the initial reaction of astonishment that the White House and Big Steel had swapped blows, the next reaction was to wonder if the White House would swing from the floor the next time its prestige was challenged.

VICTOR RIESEL hints the next time may be a drive for a 25-hour week by the New York City Central Labor Council AFL-CIO. This would make all the possible inflation in a $6 boost in the tonnage price of steel look like the price of a stick of gum if a 25-hour week put downs roots in New York and was imitated throughout the country.

What would President Kennedy do about that kind of inflation? Would he demand cancellation of the action? A congressional investigation? A Department of Justice investigation? New laws to restrain labor unions?

Would he unlimber all the power of the federal government to make it known he would order federal contracts to be shifted away from unionists sharing in the policy he disliked? Would he bring as much pure, unalloyed joy to the hearts of those who think unionists go too far in collusive tactics as he brought to the hearts of those who wonder about the "separate but equal" status of steel producers?

IF SO, President Kennedy could become the most popular chief executive of this era. He would satisfy a need that is aching from neglect.

He would convince the people of the United States that their man in the White House was capable of swinging from the floor against all offenders.

He would prove to them that labor unions could be chastised and tongue-lashed to the accompanying cheers of a long-suffering public too.

We still don't believe the steel corporations deserved what they got, but it is admittedly what most people wanted them to get. It was splendid politics, no doubt of that.

It would be equally splendid politics to see the next inflationary move by labor unions stopped in its tracks. President Kennedy might be bowled over by the discovery that what his countrymen really resent is a sense of being squeezed by power beyond their control, regardless of who holds the power.

They're waiting for him to drop the other shoe—the one labeled "Willingness To Swing at Big Labor."

Nothing To Get Angry About

No one can expect fairness and mildness to be stronger than prejudice and anger in racial issues.

But before prejudice and anger explode out of control in the latest move by southern white supremacists to embarrass northern critics, their scheme to hasten emigration to northern states of southern Negroes who want to leave should be viewed objectively.

It is not a new idea. It would be an adaptation of an idea that already has caused thousands of southern Negroes to leave home at their own expense to find better lives in nonsegregation states.

It would not have a major impact. White supremacists would not underwrite a program on a scale to be of any importance relative to the size of the massive migration still taking place.

It would have a strong appeal, on the other hand, to southern Negroes who want to leave home to seek better lives elsewhere. Many would jump at a chance to start over if they could afford to make the move to the North.

This would be a psychological boomerang against white supremacists.

They would stand accused of giving the Deep South a kick in the teeth by showing the extent of discontent among its Negro citizens.

They might even stand accused of sending away one of the prime reasons their business boomers have been giving northern industrialists for moving factories to southern states — a bountiful supply of low-cost labor.

And surely they would stand accused by some southerners of suggesting a comparison between emigration from East Germany and the motives of their own negroes for wanting to get away from what always has been referred to by southerners as a magnolia-scented paradise.

If things like these are borne in mind, at the expense of not flaring up in anger, the Reverse Freedom Rides that have come into the news will lose their zip before anyone has had time to run a temperature about them.

'Ouch' Time Again

Now comes that time of year when young men's hearts twitch lightly, and everyone's thoughts turn to the outdoors for recreation, lawn work, house repairs and various pursuits — all entailing risks to life and limb.

Power mowers, picket fences, baseball bats, bicycles, croquet balls, swimming holes, odd-sized stones, ill-tempered insects, charcoal grills and glass bottles will take their toll this spring and summer.

Be careful. Daylight Saving Time should bring a season of suntan lotion and picnic plates, not bandages and merthiolate...

Shots Fired In Mortal Combat

What would you do about a Purple Heart for an Army sergeant wounded in South Viet Nam? You think you would have given it to him because he was hurt in the course of carrying out his duties in that faraway place as a member of the U.S. Army 8th Light Helicopter Company?

But before the thing could have been done that easily it would have had to go through channels, and in due time it would have been pointed out that the Purple Heart is a decoration for those wounded in combat. The United States is not in combat in South Viet Nam.

U.S. military personnel stationed there can be injured and hurt, but technically cannot be wounded. The sergeant who claims he should have been awarded a Purple Heart for his injuries was hurt accidentally. A bullet fired at a helicopter struck an object that splintered and a fragment struck him in the leg.

The fact the bullet was fired in mortal combat in an action that is spoken of as "war in Viet Nam" is not consequential. The sergeant himself was a bystander—not an innocent bystander, perhaps, but most assuredly a helpless bystander because he was under orders to hold his fire unless attacked directly.

It's very puzzling when you stop to think about it, but it's one instance when everybody needs to stop to think about it, because if the pretext that the United States is not at war in South Viet Nam collapses the United States will be at war there officially. There will be a state of war and many things will have to be done accordingly.

May the sergeant be made whole again and may such insanity as wars that are not called wars lest they have to be fought like wars cease before they lead to destruction of what little remains of old-fashioned objectivity.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Editors and publishers from all over America meet in annual convention in New York. Why no ticker tape parade? These men do one of the most important jobs for country, many of them in an incredible determination to survive the hard way.

Few businesses have a greater supply of headaches and hazards. Many a publisher in small and big communities belongs up there with heroes in ticker tape ceremonials.

But they hear few cheers. They can do a notable civic service and get denounced for a wrong weather forecast. It is a profession where men can help rescue a city from flood, fire or earthquake and find the morning mail full of complaints that here was a typographical error in a tide table, a two-second mistake in the sunrise and a wrong middle initial in an obituary.

In few fields is the old line, "You don't have to be crazy to take on this sort of work but it helps," so true.

A publisher and editor are in a business where their performance is in full view of the public daily for a nickel or a dime.

Policy, goals, routines, methods and actions are open for all to see play by play, groan by groan, headache by headache and aspirin tablet by aspirin tablet. Goldfish are comparatively invisible.

A publisher, even if he is barely making both ends meet and close to being a hospital case, is expected by public to be a physical giant, a mental wonder, a prophet, guide, adviser, consultant, intrepid battler, freehold wrestler, crusader and all-American fullback.

In annual convention he is supposed to be still engulfed in business worries, but in fact its the one week in which he can sleep 10 minutes longer, get at least an hour for lunch and forget his blood pressure.

WHAT DOES STENGEL say on his way to the mound these days? Our guess is that on most of the trip he keeps mumbling, "How can I criticize the players for not being smart when I must admit I took this job voluntarily?"

FBI Agents' Action Defended

By Victor Riesel

If anyone thinks this is a defense of the FBI—they're right. It is.

Victor Riesel

Much has been written scathingly about the Bureau's "dawn patrol" which awakened two reporters. The newsmen were not accused of anything. Their cooperation was asked so the President of the United States could have the information he wanted by 7 a.m. That was the reported deadline.

"Dawn Patrol," which was meant by some commentators to insult the bureau, is nonetheless an apt phrase. Working round the clock without extra pay or time off becomes habit to the FBI's agents. In 1960, they put in a total of 3.42 million hours. This meant an average contribution to the decencies, the law and order and security of the land of 72 extra days a year. And not an extra nickel for such overtime.

And in all the complexities, the weariness, the frustrations and the temptations to move in fast, there have been no violations of civil rights. In fact, the bureau's scientific evidence has won a record 97 per cent of convictions in cases handled by J. Edgar Hoover's men.

ONLY RECENTLY, that unhappy man, Irving C. Scarbeck, went the way of some flesh, and, as the then second secretary of the U.S. Embassy in Warsaw, handed official secrets on to the Communist apparatus. He got 30 years.

It was a tough rap. But he had his attorney officially advise J. Edgar Hoover that the FBI's agents always were gentlemen. On all occasions, said the counselor, the G-men informed Scarbeck of his constitutional rights.

Many have forgotten the Amerasia Case. One of this magazine's editors was accused of making off with vital classified federal documents. Two FBI men were directed to interview a witness. The men learned she was pregnant. Because they thought she might be upset, they took with them a registered nurse to comfort the woman. Where else would it happen?

I know of one case in which six FBI men were ordered to make an arrest in a rural area. They were attacked by angry pitchfork wielders. The agents made their arrests as peacefully as they could. While trying to avoid striking back, three FBI men were gored.

One of the assailants was an older man. After the agents had taken the pitchforks from them, the older pitchfork wielder complained he just did not feel well.

THE VERY SAME agents he had just assaulted made him comfortable and ministered to him till a civilian doctor and ambulance could take over.

There is the case of two agents who sought out a writer and asked him many questions about a great movie star—now dead. The writer later excoriated them in a bitter magazine piece. He mocked them for using the word "communistic" instead of Communist without the "ic." To this day the writer does not know that the two agents had gone out to help the actor, whom some of us believed wrongly accused. Yet neither the agents nor the FBI ever protested the insult nor bore the writer any grudge.

Not always is it grim. There was the case of a fugitive from a Lancaster, Pa., county jail.

The FBI traced the escapee across country. They found him working for the North Pole Santa Claus Co., in a large store.

The agents waited patiently until the long line of children had sat on Santa's lap, told him what they wanted and had gone home happy. Then quietly they picked up the prisoner.

SURE IT'S CORNY. But remember, they would not spoil the kids' good time though it might have affected the agents' jobs if they had let him slip away in the crowd after finally locating him.

You and I, through our government, don't exactly pay lush salaries to the agents, yet they're never slow with a handout. Recently they tracked down a bank-robber hiding out in a dismally cheap Los Angeles hotel. The hood had a wife and child. They interviewed the wife. During the questioning they discovered the woman and the youngster had not eaten in a while. The family had no money, because the heister had been on the lam.

These same agents became baby sitters. They paid for food and new housing for the woman and child. The money for the food and rent came out of the FBI men's own pockets.

There are a thousand such stories. So what if they awakened a couple of newsmen. We've wakened them far more frequently. Why all the sniping?

Federal Pay Hikes

By David Lawrence

Boosts Would Affect Private Business

In these days when "non-inflationary" means that it's all right for wage costs to go up but that it is sinful to increase prices, the latest move by the administration to boost pay scales among government workers is just beginning to attract attention.

David Lawrence

President Kennedy has asked Congress to increase the wages of government workers by about $1.1 billion a year in separate stages over a period of three years. This amounts to a 10.2 per cent increase from the present scale.

A comparable increase in the rates of private wages and salaries would cost private business about $23.5 billion a year.

The U.S. Civil Service Commission has issued a comparison of federal salaries with those in various occupations. It is based on a Department of Labor study of professional, administrative, technical and clerical pay.

Up to now private business in some instances has had a higher wage rate in the higher brackets of clerical employes, and the government has regularly maintained a better position in the lower brackets. Now, however, if government rates go up, private business will find itself confronted with the necessity of pushing up many of its wage and salary scales.

President Kennedy's bill provides that, even when the salaries of government workers and those in private business reach approximately the same level, there must be an annual survey and adjustment of federal salaries to keep them equal to or above the private level.

Fringe benefits provided by the government are at least as generous as and often better than those granted to salaried workers in industry. The government worker, for example, is permitted to accumulate unused sick leave.

Under the proposed schedules, office boys who at present get $3,521 a year in government, as compared with $3,119 in private industry, would go up to $3,641.

A chief personnel director in government who now gets $12,745 would to up to $15,285, as compared with $14,532 in private business. Nearly 41 per cent of the stenographers in private business in America will be getting less than the proposed government minimum. It means, therefore, an upward pressure on wage scales inside industry and business.

THE ARGUMENT isn't whether these pay rates are justified in either case. If it be assumed that wage rates for white collar workers are, generally speaking, too low, the question is how industry and business are to get the additional funds to pay for their increases. The federal government has it easy. It merely gets Congress to increase the debt limit when tax receipts aren't enough to pay for federal spending.

Private industry, however, can only raise its prices or go broke. This is what is sometimes described as a wage-price spiral. President Kennedy has called for "stability" in both wages and prices but he seems to have ignored his own doctrine as he asks Congress to raise wage levels in government.

It will be argued that the government workers have been lagging behind and that all the administration is trying to do is to "catch up." That was precisely the language of the U.S. Steel Corp. as it recently called for a "partial catch-up" on its wage costs through a small price increase.

Those who may not realize how closely related government pay scales can be to private industry need only take note of a telegram just sent by 157 printing firms in Washington to President Kennedy and members of a committee in Congress. It reads as follows:

"Report of proposed 24 cents per hour increase to composing room employes at the government printing office is shocking. This compares with average increase of 9.3 cents per hour for same craft in commercial contracts negotiated throughout the United States in the last six months. Such proposed increase of 6.8 per cent contradicts administration policy of non-inflationary increases and would have nationwide impact."

FOR THE LAST 14 years it has been customary for the government printing office to use a weighted average of the union scales in 24 leading cities as complied by the U.S. Department of Labor. Now the formula has been changed to include the higher rates of pay among night workers and the monetary value of fringe benefits. This puts the private printing establishments in Washington on the spot and must inevitably result in increased prices to the public — unless the President steps in. Certainly there has been no consideration given to any productivity guidelines in this case.

The government's role in fixing wage costs is far reaching. Congress, which has the power to approve or disapprove the wage increases for government employes, is anxious to help the workers get better pay. The real point is whether Congress will help employers in private business to get higher prices, or whether the profit squeeze will continue to become more and more acute, thus forcing many marginal concerns out of business and leaving the field to the larger companies. Unemployment will thereby be increased.

This is not a partisan observation, but every time I see Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy perform in public I think of the good impression he must make on other people like me who also had grown tired of looking and listening to typical public employes.

Board Slates Study Of Bids

The Hancock County Board of Education took under consideration two bids to construct three new schools in the county system when it opened offers Wednesday night at its New Cumberland office.

Construction firms from Morgantown and Bellefonte, Ohio, submitted the bids to erect a 300-pupil elementary school on a 15.8-acre tract in Chester, site of the former mill; a high school at Pughtown to serve 600 pupils in the northern end of the county, and a high school and junior high school in Weirton.

Bids on heating and ventilating, plumbing and electrical work also were received.

No contracts are expected to be awarded for several weeks, the board said, explaining it will be necessary to tabulate the offers to determine the low bidders.

Kellam Foley, Columbus architects, will compute the bids, including the cost of various alternate proposals, and then make a report to the board.

The new buildings are part of a $5¼ million expansion program.

DeMolays To Aid In Cancer Fund

Harding DeMolay Chapter will conduct a "bridge blockade" to solicit contributions to the Cancer Fund Saturday at the approaches to the Chester and Newell bridges.

Mark Wilson, master councilor, said the "blockade" will be held from 11:30 a. m. to 5:30 p. m. He will be aided by Roger Hicks and John Geren.

DeMolay members will receive final instructions at the Masonic Temple. Volunteers will be assigned work times and will receive a merit bar award for civic service, Wilson said.

Signs will be posted near the bridge approaches to identify the project and the members will use colored buckets to receive the donations.

H. Judson English, county vice chairman, and Postmaster Samuel W. Brown, city chairman, will assist the DeMolays.

Dropouts In West Virginia May Not Be Bad As Pictured

CHARLESTON (AP) — A preliminary survey by the State Education Department indicates that West Virginia's highly publicized school dropout problem may not be as bad as first pictured.

The survey figures showed that although 10,061 students dropped from classes in grades 7-12 during the current school year, about 39 per cent, or 3,934, simply transferred to other schools.

Executive Asst. School Supt. William K. Hamilton, in charge of the study, said this could indicate that figures used in talking about school dropouts "might be as much as 40 per cent out of line."

The 6,127 pupils actually listed as dropouts represented only 3.4 per cent of the total enrollment of schools covered in the preliminary survey. Schools included in the study contain about 80 per cent of the total state enrollment in grades 7 through 12, Hamilton said.

Another discovery was that 13.5 per cent of the dropouts left school to get married. The figure included 785 girls and 42 boys.

About 30 per cent left because of what Hamilton called "a poor attitude or the school's failure to meet pupil needs."

The survey showed that a lack of parental interest and support accounted for 6.6 per cent of the dropouts. Departures to enter military service added up an another 6 per cent.

Hamilton said the reasons for students leaving school were determined in all but 3.7 per cent of the cases studied.

He noted that dropouts were heaviest at the 10th grade level and that girls left school at a greater ratio than boys up to age 14.

Cause Of House Fire Not Found

The cause of a fire which damaged the roof and second floor of the home of Glenn Wilson, 314 Monroe St., Wednesday morning still hasn't been determined, firemen said today.

No estimate has been made of the loss to the frame structure, which was eing remodeled. Wilson said yesterday the loss would be partially covered by insurance.

Two trucks from Central Station responded to the initial alarm at 10:50 a. m. and a third unit was called five minutes later. The emergency truck was summoned at 11:20.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson and daughter reside on the first floor and Mrs. Clara Finley occupies the second floor.

Cemetery Fire Report Is 'Grave' Situation

High winds have made many people conscious of grass fires and the danger of them burning out of control.

And it was true Wednesday night when firemen went to Spring Grove Cemetery to check on a possible grass fire. Firemen said a Lisbon St. woman notified police about 9:30 there appeared to be a fire in the cemetery. Police relayed the call to firemen.

When firemen arrived, they found two men using lanterns to complete the digging of a grave!

4 Charges Filed As Man Crashes Light On Dresden

When a Cleveland man drove through a red traffic light at 3 this morning on Dresden Ave. at Webber Way, he and a passenger wound up in jail on a total of four charges.

Harry A. Brown, 31, the driver, and Walter D. Morris, 25, also of Cleveland, were fined $10 and costs each today by Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff when they pleaded guilty to possessing open containers of intoxicating liquor in a motor vehicle. Police said each had a paritally-consumed bottle of beer.

Brown was fined $5 and costs for crashing the traffic light. Morris was given a suspended $10 fine on an intoxication charge, but ordered to pay the $7.50 costs.

Patrolman Paul Carter testified he halted the pair after seeing Brown drive through the traffic light and then shout at a woman who was crossing the street afoot. He said Morris was intoxicated, but a test given Brown substantiated his story that he had consumed only two bottles of beer.

Morris told the court he and Brown were en route to Washington, Pa., and had left Cleveland at 11:30 p. m. Wednesday. He said he is employed temporarily at Cleveland and was taking money to his wife and child in Washington.

Board Slates Study Of Bids

The Hancock County Board of Education took under consideration two bids to construct three new schools in the county system when it opened offers Wednesday night at its New Cumberland office.

Construction firms from Morgantown and Bellefonte, Ohio, submitted the bids to erect a 300-pupil elementary school on a 15.8-acre tract in Chester, site of the former mill; a high school at Pughtown to serve 600 pupils in the northern end of the county, and a high school and junior high school in Weirton.

Bids on heating and ventilating, plumbing and electrical work also were received.

No contracts are expected to be awarded for several weeks, the board said, explaining it will be necessary to tabulate the offers to determine the low bidders.

Kellam Foley, Columbus architects, will compute the bids, including the cost of various alternate proposals, and then make a report to the board.

The new buildings are part of a $5¼ million expansion program.

Dropouts In West Virginia May Not Be Bad As Pictured

CHARLESTON (AP) — A preliminary survey by the State Education Department indicates that West Virginia's highly publicized school dropout problem may not be as bad as first pictured.

The survey figures showed that although 10,061 students dropped from classes in grades 7-12 during the current school year, about 39 per cent, or 3,934, simply transferred to other schools.

Executive Asst. School Supt. William K. Hamilton, in charge of the study, said this could indicate that figures used in talking about school dropouts "might be as much as 40 per cent out of line."

The 6,127 pupils actually listed as dropouts represented only 3.4 per cent of the total enrollment of schools covered in the preliminary survey. Schools included in the study contain about 80 per cent of the total state enrollment in grades 7 through 12, Hamilton said.

Another discovery was that 13.5 per cent of the dropouts left school to get married. The figure included 785 girls and 42 boys.

About 30 per cent left because of what Hamilton called "a poor attitude or the school's failure to meet pupil needs."

The survey showed that a lack of parental interest and support accounted for 6.6 per cent of the dropouts. Departures to enter military service added up an another 6 per cent.

Hamilton said the reasons for students leaving school were determined in all but 3.7 per cent of the cases studied.

He noted that dropouts were heaviest at the 10th grade level and that girls left school at a greater ratio than boys up to age 14.

Cause Of House Fire Not Found

The cause of a fire which damaged the roof and second floor of the home of Glenn Wilson, 314 Monroe St., Wednesday morning still hasn't been determined, firemen said today.

No estimate has been made of the loss to the frame structure, which was eing remodeled. Wilson said yesterday the loss would be partially covered by insurance.

Two trucks from Central Station responded to the initial alarm at 10:50 a. m. and a third unit was called five minutes later. The emergency truck was summoned at 11:20.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson and daughter reside on the first floor and Mrs. Clara Finley occupies the second floor.

Workmen for a firm, which was installing aluminum siding, denied using a torch.

Cemetery Fire Report Is 'Grave' Situation

High winds have made many people conscious of grass fires and the danger of them burning out of control.

And it was true Wednesday night when firemen went to Spring Grove Cemetery to check on a possible grass fire. Firemen said a Lisbon St. woman notified police about 9:30 there appeared to be a fire in the cemetery. Police relayed the call to firemen.

When firemen arrived, they found two men using lanterns to complete the digging of a grave!

4 Charges Filed As Man Crashes Light On Dresden

When a Cleveland man drove through a red traffic light at 3 this morning on Dresden Ave. at Webber Way, he and a passenger wound up in jail on a total of four charges.

Harry A. Brown, 31, the driver, and Walter D. Morris, 25, also of Cleveland, were fined $10 and costs each today by Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff when they pleaded guilty to possessing open containers of intoxicating liquor in a motor vehicle. Police said each had a paritally-consumed bottle of beer.

Brown was fined $5 and costs for crashing the traffic light. Morris was given a suspended $10 fine on an intoxication charge, but ordered to pay the $7.50 costs.

Patrolman Paul Carter testified he halted the pair after seeing Brown drive through the traffic light and then shout at a woman who was crossing the street afoot. He said Morris was intoxicated, but a test given Brown substantiated his story that he had consumed only two bottles of beer.

Morris told the court he and Brown were en route to Washington, Pa., and had left Cleveland at 11:30 p. m. Wednesday. He said he is employed temporarily at Cleveland and was taking money to his wife and child in Washington.

to $2 billion on projects he would select if a recession threatened.

Committee Democrats said in a majority report there was a "real and urgent need" for such authority. But the Republicans generally felt Congress could act swiftly or be called into special session if a depression loomed.

The committee-approved bill would permit the President under the standby power to start projects not previously authorized by Congress. By certain findings he could make federal money available on a 90-10 local matching basis.

He could deal directly with cities without going through state governments. He could not spend more than 12.8 per cent of the total $2 billion in any one state. But by the same token he could spend all of it in eight key states if he chose.

The political implications of this were not lost on Prouty, who called the proposal in a statement of individual views "the longest reach for executive power I have ever witnessed."

He said marginal districts that might go either way in a congressional election "may find themselves the sudden recipients of federal largesse at key times in key campaigns."

In Reverse

NORFOLK, Va. — Charles R. Nohava, 13, took out a war surplus parachute he had bought to let it fill up in the breeze. A gust of 30 to 35 miles per hour caught it and lifted him 20 feet to the roof of his house, then dragged him into electric power lines where he hung suspended before droping to the ground. He was treated for electric shock in the Naval Hospital at Portsmouth.

Tom Leder, a 6-foot-5, 195-pound pitching prospect for the Cincinnati Reds, had an amazing 1.62 earned run average last season with Tampa in the Class D Florida State League.

Group Opposed To School Site

LISBON — The Columbiana County Traffic Safety Committee opposed a proposed school site after hearing three members of the citizens committee of the United Local School District discuss the project of erecting a new school across the highway from the present building.

The safety committee adopted the following resolution:

"Experience elsewhere in Ohio has demonstrated that schools which are constructed on the opposite side of any main thoroughfare create a traffic hazard. School bus traffic moving from one side of the thoroughfare to the other at right angles to traffic and resultant inevitable foot traffic constitute an extreme traffic hazard.

"The traffic safety committee abhors the creating of any traffic hazard in this county and we urge that the Board of Education of the United Local School District exercise great caution and restraint in planning of school facilities in order that every possible hazard to the lives of children and adults may be avoided."

In other business, May was set as Safety Car Check Month, and the committee recommended that all car owners have their cars checked by local authorities, who are handling the traffic checks.

Tom Williams of Salem, president, presided. Next meeting is May 16.

which had also ordered them reinstated but with back pay.

Three Republican women named successors to the four original women have continued to work at the Courthouse, but have not been paid. A fourth woman hired has since died.

The court's ruling held the four original employes had acquired Civil Service status by taking a non-competitive examination when hired.

Brokaw has contended the examinations were merely job application forms.

Ball Games End At Chester Park

An end to ball playing at the field at Chester City Park until the field can be re-located was ordered Wednesday night by the Park Commission after complaints were received from nearby homeowners.

Two residents of Louella Ave. said balls have been hitting the sides of their homes, denting the aluminum siding.

The commission ordered a ban on ball playing at the field until it is re-located further west. After the re-location, anyone desiring to play must obtain permission from the commission.

Harold Dickey, chairman, was in charge. Next meeting is May 9.

Mississippi Town Due Dogwood Festival

OXFORD, Miss. (AP) — There's a "Dogwood Festival" in this north Mississippi town's future.

More than 2,000 dogwood trees were planted recently in a civic drive to make Oxford the "Dogwood Capital of the World."

A professor at the University of Mississippi, Dr. Samuel S. Talbert, got it all started after seeing the glory of Washington's cherry blossoms.

Group Opposed To School Site

LISBON — The Columbiana County Traffic Safety Committee opposed a proposed school site after hearing three members of the citizens committee of the United Local School District discuss the project of erecting a new school across the highway from the present building.

The safety committee adopted the following resolution:

"Experience elsewhere in Ohio has demonstrated that schools which are constructed on the opposite side of any main thoroughfare create a traffic hazard. School bus traffic moving from one side of the thoroughfare to the other at right angles to traffic and resultant inevitable foot traffic constitute an extreme traffic hazard.

"The traffic safety committee abhors the creating of any traffic hazard in this county and we urge that the Board of Education of the United Local School District exercise great caution and restraint in planning of school facilities in order that every possible hazard to the lives of children and adults may be avoided."

In other business, May was set as Safety Car Check Month, and the committee recommended that all car owners have their cars checked by local authorities, who are handling the traffic checks.

Tom Williams of Salem, president, presided. Next meeting is May 16.

West Virginia Plumber, 29, To Get Hero Medal

PITTSBURGH (AP) — James C. Kirkendall, a 29-year-old Logan, W. Va., plumber will receive a bronze medal and a $500 award from the Carnegie Hero Fund Commission for saving a youth from suffocation in a manhole.

Kirkendall was cited by the commission for rescuing Andrew J. Foley, 18, a plumber's helper, at Logan on May 16, 1961.

The citation related that Foley lost consciousness while trying to unblock a sewer at the bottom of a 32-foot manhole. After efforts failed to extricate him, Kirkendall volunteered to be lowered head first into the hole with a rope tied around each ankle and held by others.

Hanging head down, he was lowered within four feet of the bottom. He secured a locking grip around Foley's chest and, holding onto the still unconscious youth, was pulled upward by the other men.

After some difficulty in which Foley's head became caught beneath a ladder rung, Kirkendall managed to free him, regain his grip, and both were pulled to the surface. Kirkendall was in the manhole about five minutes.

Foley was revived and recovered.

Reminder Given On Jailing Policy

BEAVER — Justices of the peace and constables of Beaver County were reminded by the county's Prison Board today that no one is to be committed to the County Jail prior to a hearing unless no jail is available in the municipality in which the person resides.

The board met Wednesday when attention was called to the fact that several justices issue warrants for arrests and commitment papers at the same time.

The board said persons cannot be committed until after a hearing. Letters will be sent to squires and constables.

The board also heard a report on the plumbing needs at the century-old jail. Beaver County commissioners had authorized Edwin M. Wallover Jr., architect, to make a study and prepare plans and cost estimates. Work will depend on need and cost. Some plumbing repair is needed soon.

The board delayed action on replacing locks installed at the jail in 1914.

Embarks On New Mission

Stokowski, 75, To Form New Symphony Array

NEW YORK (AP) — Conductor Leopold Stokowski, 75, has embarked upon a new mission in a long and distinguished musical career. He is forming a new symphony orchestra.

A generation ago, he brought the Philadelphia Orchestra to prominence, a feat that linked his name irrevocably with those of Arturo Toscanini and Serge Koussevitsky as giants of orchestral mastery. Critics generally acclaim him as one of the world's greatest maestros.

In this country he has contributed to the development of the Cincinnati Symphony, the Houston, Tex., Symphony, the Hollywood Bowl Symphony, and the All-American Youth Orchestra, formed here in 1944. He has also conducted the New York Philharmonic and the NBC Symphony, among others.

In his native Europe, his career has been equally broad.

The new ensemble will be known as the American Symphony Orchestra, and during its first season starting this fall it will offer Monday night concerts in historic Carnegie Hall once a month.

"The idea is great music for everyone," said Stokowski, who conducted the orchestra for Walt Disney' widely viewed motion picture, "Fantasia," during a 10-year association with Hollywood.

Stokowski told a news conference Wednesday that New York City, which will get a new orchestral hall at Lincoln Center for the 1962-63 season, can well stand another orchestra. It now has only the Philharmonic and the Symphony of the Air, which has an irregular schedule.

The first concert in Carnegie Hall will be held Oct. 15, and there will be six in all. The Carnegie Hall concerts will be repeated in nearby areas, such as New Jersey, Long Island and Brooklyn.

West Virginia Plumber, 29, To Get Hero Medal

PITTSBURGH (AP) — James C. Kirkendall, a 29-year-old Logan, W. Va., plumber will receive a bronze medal and a $500 award from the Carnegie Hero Fund Commission for saving a youth from suffocation in a manhole.

Kirkendall was cited by the commission for rescuing Andrew J. Foley, 18, a plumber's helper, at Logan on May 16, 1961.

The citation related that Foley lost consciousness while trying to unblock a sewer at the bottom of a 32-foot manhole. After efforts failed to extricate him, Kirkendall volunteered to be lowered head first into the hole with a rope tied around each ankle and held by others.

Hanging head down, he was lowered within four feet of the bottom. He secured a locking grip around Foley's chest and, holding onto the still unconscious youth, was pulled upward by the other men.

After some difficulty in which Foley's head became caught beneath a ladder rung, Kirkendall managed to free him, regain his grip, and both were pulled to the surface. Kirkendall was in the manhole about five minutes.

Foley was revived and recovered.

Reminder Given On Jailing Policy

BEAVER — Justices of the peace and constables of Beaver County were reminded by the county's Prison Board today that no one is to be committed to the County Jail prior to a hearing unless no jail is available in the municipality in which the person resides.

The board met Wednesday when attention was called to the fact that several justices issue warrants for arrests and commitment papers at the same time.

The board said persons cannot be committed until after a hearing. Letters will be sent to squires and constables.

The board also heard a report on the plumbing needs at the century-old jail. Beaver County commissioners had authorized Edwin M. Wallover Jr., architect, to make a study and prepare plans and cost estimates. Work will depend on need and cost. Some plumbing repair is needed soon.

The board delayed action on replacing locks installed at the jail in 1914.

Embarks On New Mission

Stokowski, 75, To Form New Symphony Array

NEW YORK (AP) — Conductor Leopold Stokowski, 75, has embarked upon a new mission in a long and distinguished musical career. He is forming a new symphony orchestra.

A generation ago, he brought the Philadelphia Orchestra to prominence, a feat that linked his name irrevocably with those of Arturo Toscanini and Serge Koussevitsky as giants of orchestral mastery. Critics generally acclaim him as one of the world's greatest maestros.

In this country he has contributed to the development of the Cincinnati Symphony, the Houston, Tex., Symphony, the Hollywood Bowl Symphony, and the All-American Youth Orchestra, formed here in 1944. He has also conducted the New York Philharmonic and the NBC Symphony, among others.

In his native Europe, his career has been equally broad.

The new ensemble will be known as the American Symphony Orchestra, and during its first season starting this fall it will offer Monday night concerts in historic Carnegie Hall once a month.

"The idea is great music for everyone," said Stokowski, who conducted the orchestra for Walt Disney' widely viewed motion picture, "Fantasia," during a 10-year association with Hollywood.

Stokowski told a news conference Wednesday that New York City, which will get a new orchestral hall at Lincoln Center for the 1962-63 season, can well stand another orchestra. It now has only the Philharmonic and the Symphony of the Air, which has an irregular schedule.

The first concert in Carnegie Hall will be held Oct. 15, and there will be six in all. The Carnegie Hall concerts will be repeated in nearby areas, such as New Jersey, Long Island and Brooklyn.

Professor At Kent To Speak For Beaver Local 'Roundup'

P. K. Howells, Kent State University professor, will be speaker at a Beaver Local School District "Roundup Meeting" of PTA, booster and other organizations Monday night at 7:30 at the Public School.

Howells, member of the Ohio School Boards Association staff, will address the group instead of Lewis Harris, executive secretary of the group, who is unable to attend because of a schedule conflict.

Howells, member of the Kent education department faculty, will discuss school finances. He will be introduced by George VanHorne, executive head of the district.

Clayton Aughinbaugh, president, of the Beaver Local Public School PTA, sponsors of the meeting, will be in charge.

Carl Mansfield, hospitality committee chairman, will give opening remarks, and Mrs. Ruth Green will be refreshments chairman.

The girls' ensemble will sing selections under the direction of Mrs. Carol Walton, music instructor. The group includes June Baker, Moira Boyd, Paula Bryan, Alverda Davidson, Karen Walker, Lynn Dick, Judy Frantz, Janet McCoy and Beverly Windle.

Newell Firemen Face Problem As Blaze Hits Trees

Newell volunteer firemen battled a different type of a fire Wednesday night—a stubborn tree fire.

Fire Chief Arch Coen said firemen battled the blaze near the old reservoir above Jefferson St. between 3rd and 4th Sts., for about two and a half hours.

The locust trees caught fire from a grass blaze which was quelled quickly. The grass fire didn't spread over a large area but ignited the trees with the fire burning through the center of the locusts, the chief explained.

Because the fire was apparently inside the trees, it was extremely difficult to put out and firemen had to chop down some of the trees to quell the blaze, Chief Coen explained.

Firemen set up a portable pump at the reservoir for a water supply, which lowered the reservoir about three inches, he continued.

Fire Marshal Slates Tour Of County Home

Wilson McLaughlin, Ohio state fire marshal, is scheduled to inspect the Columbiana County home near Lisbon Monday at the request of County Commissioner Frank Wilson of Wellsville.

The fire marshal's office today said McLaughlin will meet with the commissioners Monday afternoon at 1 and tour the County Home.

Wilson requested the inspection last week after steam pipes at the home failed, causing heating to be shut off for two days. The commissioner said he desires that the marshal check conditions at the home and determine if extensive repairs would be warranted for the old structure.

Street Gripes Plague City

ventional square system of long, straight streets in level towns.

—:—

THERE ARE people from prairie or other flat areas who have been horrified at the steepness of our streets. But there have also been cliff-hanging West Virginians who consider our worst grades mere "gentle slopes."

Street repairs are the city's most serious problem—"Our biggest bugaboo," as Auditor Lawrence Applegate puts it. "We never have enough money to go around."

Among those most familiar with the day-to-day care of our concrete and blacktop—along with the historical shortcomings—is W. M. (Wib) Laughlin, street superintendent, who began work with the city in 1934.

"Our streets were not designed for the present heavy traffic, which is growing worse," Laughlin says.

HE POINTS out the city's hills and sprawling dimensions in four directions require materials, equipment and manpower not needed by communities in more level portions of the state.

George Bloomgren, city engineer since 1932 (except for administration changes in 1939-40, 1943-44) and another expert on streets, said the cost of street construction in hilly cities such as ours is higher because of drainage needs.

The planned St. Clair Ave. project will be more expensive than it would have elsewhere due to the cost of a required storm sewer, he explained.

Grades on St. Clair Ave. and Lisbon St. are as steep as 15 per cent in places—a rise of 15 feet for every 100 feet distance.

E. 6th St., of course, is the city's steepest grade—33 per cent—as many a dented muffler and bent bumper guard will testify.

EAST Liverpool extends 4.45 street miles or 4.12 crow-flying miles from the Pennsylvania line to the west city limits along the Super-Road, and 2.8 street miles from the Ohio River shore to the north limits on St. Clair Ave.

The longest street is Pennsylvania Ave.—2.8 miles (with St. Clair Ave. a close second with 2.4 miles)—and although there are many short streets, the shortest and busiest is probably Smiths St., notable link between Dresden and St. Clair Aves.

Broadway — with a total 80 feet of right-of-way (including sidewalks) — was for many years the widest street in the city — 48 feet wide for traffic. This paved portion was increased over eight feet a number of years ago so that the present paved width is now 56½ feet.

BUT THE widest traffic area stretch in the city is W. 8th St., just north of Lisbon St. where the roadway extends 70 feet 10 inches from curb to curb. Overhead is the Freeway span, not yet in use, which has a traffic area width totaling 94 feet.

City ordinance calls for three-fifths of a right-of-way to be utilized for the paved traffic portion, leaving two-fifths for sidewalks or one-fifth for each side.

Fifth St. has a 60-foot right-of-way. Thus 60 per cent, or 36 feet, is paved for traffic, and 40 per cent is sidewalk, or 12 feet on each side.

Market St. has a 60-foot right of way, as do other north-south streets in the downtown areas.

2 Become Members Of Liverpool Fire Unit

James Powell and James Arcuragi were enrolled as second class firemen at the meeting of the Liverpool Township East volunteer fire department Wednesday night at the Dixonville station.

Firemen also made plans to attend the Tri-State Firemen's Association meeting Saturday night at the Glenmoor department. John Conley, president, presided.

A training session will be held May 9 at 7 p. m.

Spaghetti Served With Choice Of Topping

A new spaghetti sauce, a choice of toppings, and you can serve a spaghetti supper with interesting new flavor.

The sauce is a dry mix, complete with tomato, and just needs to have water added and simmered for ten minutes. It is spicy, delicious and easy to cook.

The toppings can be almost anything your imagination creates. For a starter, here are three good ideas — crisp bacon, sauteed mushrooms, and grated parmesan cheese. Let each person, choose his own topping and sprinkle it over the sauced spaghetti.

1 pkg. complete spaghetti suace mix
1 (8 oz.) pkg. dry spaghetti
6 slices bacon, fried crisp
½ cup granted parmesan cheese
¼ lb. sauteed fresh mushrooms

Cook spaghetti sauce according to package directions. Cook spaghetti according to package directions. Drain spaghetti well. Pour hot cooked sauce over spaghetti and serve with choice of toppings — bacon, cheese, and mushrooms. Makes 4 servings.

90 Hear Federal Reserve Speaker

About 90 industrialists and bank directors heard Dr. Maurice Mann, senior financial economist from the Federal Reserve Bank of Cleveland, discuss "Current Business Conditions" at a roundtable Wednesday afternoon at the Country Club.

Edward A. Fink, vice president of the Cleveland Federal Reserve Bank, served as moderator for the program sponsored by the First National Bank and the Potters Bank & Trust Co.

Dr. Mann is in charge of the finance section of the bank's research department and also is editor of its Monthly Business Review.

Guests from the Cleveland and Pittsburgh banks attended the affair, which closed with a dinner.

PTA Minstrel Show Will Be Held Friday

HANOVERTON — The curtain is to go up to 8:15 Friday night at United High School for the United Parent - Teacher Association minstrel show.

Herbert McClure will be interlocutor for the production, which includes Richard Davis, Daniel Sanor, Mifflin Brogan, Clyde Allen, Lee Hardgrove and Jack Hardgrove as end men.

The show will be presented Saturday night also.

Groundbreaking Set For Church At Rogers

ROGERS — Groundbreaking services for the Lake Mount Church of Christ on Route 7 north of here will be held Sunday afternoon at 3 with Gene Marvin, evangelist, in charge.

A representative of the Unified Church Structures, Inc., will meet with men of the church at the home of Charles Sienerth to discuss plans and costs of erection of a church building.

The congregation has been meeting for about two years in the Community Hall here. Construction is to get under way shortly, with a picnic area planned for one part of the newly acquired three-acre site.

Busman's Holiday

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — Edward J. McCarthy, chief of detectives for the Des Moines Police Department, picked up some color film he had taken of his grandchildren, only to discover the pictures were not his. So he reverted to his profession, and with a magnifying glass spotted a license number on a car in the picture. Thus McCarthy traced the pictures to Walter Trotter of Des Moines, who had received McCarthy's film.

Wet Blacktop Cure Planned

The Tri-State Asphalt Corp. of Martins Ferry is scheduled to begin spreading a thin coat of "sand" slag today on the surface of East Liverpool blacktop streets where a sealcoat applied last fall has been turned into sticky liquid by the hot sun in the last few days.

The "bleeding," first noted late in 1961, occurred again over the weekend when temperatures climbed, Safety - Service Director Robert Owen said. It grew progressively worse as the mercury rose to summer-like levels yesterday.

The director said the company, working at no cost to the city, has agreed to spread the "sand" slag on all streets which have started to "bleed" as a result of the sealcoating last fall.

Some of the major thoroughfares involved are Pennsylvania Ave., Mulberry St. and W. 4th St. However, all streets sealcoated last fall will be checked and treated if needed, the director said.

"The administration never has been satisfied with the job," Owen pointed out. "Part of the payment due the contractor has been held back while a solution was sought."

An exhaustive investigation by the contractor and the company that supplied the material has failed to turn up the cause, Owen said. The sealcoat material followed state specifications, he added.

Man Killed, Another Hurt By Electricity

In two separate accidents Wednesday, a Hookstown area man escaped electrocution while a 26-year-old Tarentum worker died after coming into contact with a power line.

Earl W. Irons, 44, of Hookstown R. D. 1 is in "good" condition today at Rochester General Hospital with electrical burns of the fingers of left hand and feet. He was admitted at 12:25 at Rochester after transfer from the Natrona Heights Valley General Hospital.

Irons, a construction worker for the Befay Crop. at a water project at Natrona, was holding a crane cable which made contact with a 25,000-volt power line. At the flash, Irons fell to the ground badly burned. A breaker on the power line, about a mile away, cut off the power.

William A. Jurash of Tarentum was dead on arrival at Rochester General Hospital Wednesday at 2:15 p. m. He was electrocuted while helping move the house of Policeman Sylvester Orehowry of Baden.

Street Gripes Plague City

ventional square system of long, straight streets in level towns.

—:—

THERE ARE people from prairie or other flat areas who have been horrified at the steepness of our streets. But there have also been cliff-hanging West Virginians who consider our worst grades mere "gentle slopes."

Street repairs are the city's most serious problem—"Our biggest bugaboo," as Auditor Lawrence Applegate puts it. "We never have enough money to go around."

Among those most familiar with the day-to-day care of our concrete and blacktop—along with the historical shortcomings—is W. M. (Wib) Laughlin, street superintendent, who began work with the city in 1934.

"Our streets were not designed for the present heavy traffic, which is growing worse," Laughlin says.

HE POINTS out the city's hills and sprawling dimensions in four directions require materials, equipment and manpower not needed by communities in more level portions of the state.

George Bloomgren, city engineer since 1932 (except for administration changes in 1939-40, 1943-44) and another expert on streets, said the cost of street construction in hilly cities such as ours is higher because of drainage needs.

The planned St. Clair Ave. project will be more expensive than it would have elsewhere due to the cost of a required storm sewer, he explained.

Grades on St. Clair Ave. and Lisbon St. are as steep as 15 per cent in places—a rise of 15 feet for every 100 feet distance.

E. 6th St., of course, is the city's steepest grade—33 per cent—as many a dented muffler and bent bumper guard will testify.

EAST Liverpool extends 4.45 street miles or 4.12 crow-flying miles from the Pennsylvania line to the west city limits along the Super-Road, and 2.8 street miles from the Ohio River shore to the north limits on St. Clair Ave.

The longest street is Pennsylvania Ave.—2.8 miles (with St. Clair Ave. a close second with 2.4 miles)—and although there are many short streets, the shortest and busiest is probably Smiths St., notable link between Dresden and St. Clair Aves.

Broadway — with a total 80 feet of right-of-way (including sidewalks) — was for many years the widest street in the city — 48 feet wide for traffic. This paved portion was increased over eight feet a number of years ago so that the present paved width is now 56½ feet.

BUT THE widest traffic area stretch in the city is W. 8th St., just north of Lisbon St. where the roadway extends 70 feet 10 inches from curb to curb. Overhead is the Freeway span, not yet in use, which has a traffic area width totaling 94 feet.

City ordinance calls for three-fifths of a right-of-way to be utilized for the paved traffic portion, leaving two-fifths for sidewalks or one-fifth for each side.

Fifth St. has a 60-foot right-of-way. Thus 60 per cent, or 36 feet, is paved for traffic, and 40 per cent is sidewalk, or 12 feet on each side.

Market St. has a 60-foot right of way, as do other north-south streets in the downtown areas.

Spaghetti Served With Choice Of Topping

A new spaghetti sauce, a choice of toppings, and you can serve a spaghetti supper with interesting new flavor.

The sauce is a dry mix, complete with tomato, and just needs to have water added and simmered for ten minutes. It is spicy, delicious and easy to cook.

The toppings can be almost anything your imagination creates. For a starter, here are three good ideas — crisp bacon, sauteed mushrooms, and grated parmesan cheese. Let each person, choose his own topping and sprinkle it over the sauced spaghetti.

1 pkg. complete spaghetti suace mix
1 (8 oz.) pkg. dry spaghetti
6 slices bacon, fried crisp
½ cup granted parmesan cheese
¼ lb. sauteed fresh mushrooms

Cook spaghetti sauce according to package directions. Cook spaghetti according to package directions. Drain spaghetti well. Pour hot cooked sauce over spaghetti and serve with choice of toppings — bacon, cheese, and mushrooms. Makes 4 servings.

Busman's Holiday

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — Edward J. McCarthy, chief of detectives for the Des Moines Police Department, picked up some color film he had taken of his grandchildren, only to discover the pictures were not his. So he reverted to his profession, and with a magnifying glass spotted a license number on a car in the picture. Thus McCarthy traced the pictures to Walter Trotter of Des Moines, who had received McCarthy's film.

Wet Blacktop Cure Planned

The Tri-State Asphalt Corp. of Martins Ferry is scheduled to begin spreading a thin coat of "sand" slag today on the surface of East Liverpool blacktop streets where a sealcoat applied last fall has been turned into sticky liquid by the hot sun in the last few days.

The "bleeding," first noted late in 1961, occurred again over the weekend when temperatures climbed, Safety - Service Director Robert Owen said. It grew progressively worse as the mercury rose to summer-like levels yesterday.

The director said the company, working at no cost to the city, has agreed to spread the "sand" slag on all streets which have started to "bleed" as a result of the sealcoating last fall.

Some of the major thoroughfares involved are Pennsylvania Ave., Mulberry St. and W. 4th St. However, all streets sealcoated last fall will be checked and treated if needed, the director said.

"The administration never has been satisfied with the job," Owen pointed out. "Part of the payment due the contractor has been held back while a solution was sought."

An exhaustive investigation by the contractor and the company that supplied the material has failed to turn up the cause, Owen said. The sealcoat material followed state specifications, he added.

Series Hero Larsen Halts Bucs In Giants' 8-3 Victory

Angels Deal Tribe 6-2 Loss; Yanks Edge Chisox, 7-6

Cubs, Braves, Reds Win; Cards And Colts Tie In 17 Innings

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Don Perfect Game Larsen, who had the world on a string in 1956 but was tide up in knots four years later, has successfully retraced his path and stepped in as a stopper for the pennant-hungry San Francisco Giants.

Making his third appearance, Larsen, 32, a right-hander, came on in the sixth inning Wednesday night with Pittsburgh threatening, struck out the side, and allowed only one run the rest of the way in the Giants' 8-3 victory over the National League leaders.

It gave the only pitcher ever to hurl a perfect game in World Series history—he accomplished the feat for the New York Yankees against the Brooklyn Dodgers in '56—a record of one save and two victories in his three outings.

The save by Larsen, who could not find the plate in 1960 when he was 1-10 at Kansas City, further enhanced the trade by the Giants that sent young pitchers Don Zanni and Ed Fisher plus outfielder Bob Farley to the Chicago White Sox for Larsen and Billy Pierce.

Elsewhere the Chicago Cubs knocked off the Los Angeles Dodgers 9-6, Milwaukee topped Philadelphia 7-2, Cincinnati added to the New York Mets' problems 7-1, and St. Louis and Houston played to a 5-5 tie in 17 innings. The game was halted by curfew and will have to be replayed.

The Cubs won it with four in the eighth off reliever Larry Sherry (1-1), Ernie Banks tying it 6-6 with his fourth home run and Andre Rodgers clinching it with a three-run homer. Rodgers wound up with five runs batted in and provided Don Elston (1-0) with the victory. The Dodgers built their edge on homers by Duke Snider and Willie Davis.

Ron Piche (1-0), making his first start for the Braves, kept the Phils at bay with a four-hitter while Eddie Mathews' sixth homer, in the third inning, followed by Joe Adcock's solo smash tagged Chris Short (0-1) with the defeat. Piche gave up two hits and two runs in the first inning, but was virtually untouchable thereafter.

Vada Pinson stroked a double and two singles, raising his total runs batted in to 22, with a pair against the Mets in support of Bob Purkey's four-hit pitching. Purkey (3-0) went the route for the first time this season. Bob Miller (0-2) took the loss.

The Cardinals forged the 5-5 tie in the ninth when Ken Boyer drove in the run that knotted it with a single off Dick Farrell. The Colts, who trailed 4-0 after four innings, had moved ahead in the eighth on Merrit Ranew's first major-league homer and a run-scoring double by pitcher Jim Golden.

The game was the longest extra inning night game, by time, ever played in the NL.

Texas Open Field Draws 150 Golfers

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—A field of 150 started today in the opening round of the $30,000 Texas Open, with Arnold Palmer the heaviest pre-tournament favorite in the event's 38 years.

There wasn't anybody else mentioned, although there are as many top golfers here as the tournament ever saw. Winners of 16 of 21 tournaments this year, National Open Champion Gene Littler and more than 100 from the star-studded tour slashed at par 71 over the 6,616-yard Oak Hills Country Club course.

Palmer was seeking his third Texas Open championship in a row and he had a record back of him to indicate that he was playing about his finest golf.

Not only has Palmer won three tournaments already—one more than anybody else—but he is far ahead in the money parade. His total winnings have been $37,008.33.

Veterans Roberts, Labine Are Given Walking Papers

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—A couple of right-handers who once possessed two of the proudest names in baseball — Robin Roberts and Clem Labine — have been given their walking papers.

Roberts, who was baseball's winningest pitcher over one six-year period for the Philadelphia Phillies, drew his outright release from the New York Yankees Wednesday. Labine, a top relief man and pitching mainstay of the old Brooklyn Dodgers, was released by the New York Mets today.

Roberts is 35, Labine is 36. Each was overlooked in the expansion draft. Their outright release is the second for each. Each may be at the end of his baseball career, though Roberts says he doesn't intent to quit. Labine was not immediately available for comment.

Roberts, who won 234 games with the Phillies, was near tears as he packed his bag in the Yankee dressing room.

"I want to stay in baseball as an active player," he said. "Naturally, I am a little shocked at this release, but I think I am still capable of pitching."

He didn't pitch an inning for the Yankees this season. New York picked him up after he had been given his outright release by the Phillies after a 1-10 season last year.

"He didn't fit into our relief plans and I couldn't work him into the starting rotation," Yankee Manager Ralph Houk said. "It is our feeling that he should have every chance to get another job and it is for that reason that we are releasing him at this time."

Labine, who made a career as a relief man, played on four National League champion teams —Brooklyn in 1953, '55 and'56, and the Los Angeles Dodgers in 1959.

He and catcher Joe Ginsberg were released from the Mets to make way for catcher Harry Chiti, purchased outright from Cleveland, and right-handed pitcher Dave Hillman, purchased from Syracuse.

Labine, signed as a free agent after being dropped by Pittsburgh, worked in three games, all in relief, for the Mets this season.

Colorado Athletic Head Expecting Stiff Penalty

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Colorado athletic director Harry Carlson expects a two to four year penalty for his school as the powerful and stern infractions committee of the National Collegiate Athletic Association reports today.

The NCAA's official word about discipline is that there are no penalties in sight, but that's the usual comment from officials of the organization until any action is made public.

There have been consistent reports that Colorado is in line for a severe penalty because of the alleged "slush fund" operated by former coach Everett (Sonny) Grandelius, who was fired as head coach of the Buffaloes on March 17 after giving Colorado its first Big Eight football crown last fall.

Carlson told newsmen he expected Colorado to be put on probation for two to four years.

Twins Stop Orioles, 3-1, On Lemon's HR; Allen Doubles In Run

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS

Towering Gene Conley, rescued from mayhem on the hardwoods by the arrival of the baseball season, is rewarding the Boston Red Sox with a quick start that could propel the right-hander to his best season in the majors.

The multi-talented Conley, 31, won his second in three decisions Wednesday, limiting Washington to five hits and smashing a two-run homer to aid his own cause in a 7-1 Red Sox triumph that sent the Senators reeling with their seventh consecutive defeat.

It's one of the fastest starts of his nine-year career for the 6-foot-8 fire-baller who broke his left hand and jammed two fingers on his pitching hand while playing with New York in the American Basketball League this past season.

Faced with the ever-present problem of which sport gets first call on his services, Conley took his mauled hands and reported to the Red Sox at the start of spring training.

Now, in top shape from his early arrival and taking his regular place in the rotation from the start of the campaign, Conley is hopeful of posting his top mark. His previous best was 12-7 in 1959 with Philadelphia. He was 11-14 with Boston in his American League debut last year.

Cleveland held first place despite a 6-2 loss to the Los Angeles Angels. The New York Yankees edged the Chicago White Sox 7-6, Minnesota snapped Baltimore's four-game winning streak with a 3-1 triumph and Kansas City outlasted Detroit 9-8 in other games.

The Red Sox struck for five runs in the fourth against the Senators' rookie Jim Hannan (0-1), getting three on Frank Malzone's homer and two on Conley's shot. Gene had Washington blanked on two hits for seven innings before singles by Bob Johnson and Ken Retzer and John Schaive's double brought a run across in the eighth.

The Angels snapped the Indians' three-game winning streak with rookie right-hander Bo Belinsky (2-0) hurling a four-hitter and allowing only one earned run. Leon Wagner's four inning homer off Pedro Ramos (0-1), making his first start since he was acquired by Cleveland in a trade with Minnesota, put Los Angeles ahead to stay.

Hector Lopez' two-run single with the bases loaded in the ninth capped a four-run rally that won it for the Yankees and Rollie Sheldon (1-0). The White Sox had built a 6-3 lead with a 17-hit attack that chased Whitey Ford as Jim Landis led the offensive with a homer, triple and double. The loser was Ed Fisher (0-2), working in relief of Juan Pizarro.

Jim Lemon's pinch-hit, two-run homer with two out in the ninth beat the Orioles and Chuck Estrada (1-2). Don Lee (1-1) won it, limiting the Orioles to three hits for eight innings before coming out so Lemon could hit. Ray Moore pitched the ninth. Baltimore's lone run came on Jackie Brandt's homer in the seventh.

Bernie Allen gave Minnesota a 1-0 lead in the second inning when he belted a double to drive in Zolio Versalles with the Twins' first run.

The A's capitalized on five Tiger errors for seven unearned runs to gain their fifth win in six games. The victory went to starter Jerry Walker (3-0), who had to leave in the sixth when wildness led to four Detroit runs. Danny McDevitt and Bob Grim finished up. Rookie Doug Gallagher (0-1) lost it.

Bo Belinsky No Flop Now For Angels

LOS ANGELES (AP) — There were times this spring when it appeared Bo Belinsky's earned-run average might run into more figures than the serial number on his shocking-red Cadillac.

In three exhibition games against Houston, Belinsky gave the Colts 23 runs, then went to Manager Bill Rigney of the Los Angeles Angels and demanded:

"Haven't you got anybody else who can pitch against this club."

It is against this background of futility that students of the game are trying to assess the competence Belinsky has demonstrated since the American League season opened. Belinsky, a loser last season in the minors (9-10 at Little Rock), has made two starts for the Angels and won them both. In 15 innings, he has allowed only 9 hits and his earned run average is 1.80.

Wednesday night, he became the second Angel to pitch a complete game this season, allowing only four hits as Los Angeles broke a four-game losing streak by defeating Cleveland 6-2. He struck out eight, walked five and gave up only one earned run.

The young southpaw didn't allow a hit until the fifth, when the Indians got their only earned run on a double by John Romano and a pinch single by Gene Green. The Indians' other score came in the eighth.

Series Hero Larsen Halts Bucs In Giants' 8-3 Victory

Angels Deal Tribe 6-2 Loss; Yanks Edge Chisox, 7-6

Cubs, Braves, Reds Win; Cards And Colts Tie In 17 Innings

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Don Perfect Game Larsen, who had the world on a string in 1956 but was tide up in knots four years later, has successfully retraced his path and stepped in as a stopper for the pennant-hungry San Francisco Giants.

Making his third appearance, Larsen, 32, a right-hander, came on in the sixth inning Wednesday night with Pittsburgh threatening, struck out the side, and allowed only one run the rest of the way in the Giants' 8-3 victory over the National League leaders.

It gave the only pitcher ever to hurl a perfect game in World Series history—he accomplished the feat for the New York Yankees against the Brooklyn Dodgers in '56—a record of one save and two victories in his three outings.

The save by Larsen, who could not find the plate in 1960 when he was 1-10 at Kansas City, further enhanced the trade by the Giants that sent young pitchers Don Zanni and Ed Fisher plus outfielder Bob Farley to the Chicago White Sox for Larsen and Billy Pierce.

Elsewhere the Chicago Cubs knocked off the Los Angeles Dodgers 9-6, Milwaukee topped Philadelphia 7-2, Cincinnati added to the New York Mets' problems 7-1, and St. Louis and Houston played to a 5-5 tie in 17 innings. The game was halted by curfew and will have to be replayed.

The Cubs won it with four in the eighth off reliever Larry Sherry (1-1), Ernie Banks tying it 6-6 with his fourth home run and Andre Rodgers clinching it with a three-run homer. Rodgers wound up with five runs batted in and provided Don Elston (1-0) with the victory. The Dodgers built their edge on homers by Duke Snider and Willie Davis.

Ron Piche (1-0), making his first start for the Braves, kept the Phils at bay with a four-hitter while Eddie Mathews' sixth homer, in the third inning, followed by Joe Adcock's solo smash tagged Chris Short (0-1) with the defeat. Piche gave up two hits and two runs in the first inning, but was virtually untouchable thereafter.

Vada Pinson stroked a double and two singles, raising his total runs batted in to 22, with a pair against the Mets in support of Bob Purkey's four-hit pitching. Purkey (3-0) went the route for the first time this season. Bob Miller (0-2) took the loss.

The Cardinals forged the 5-5 tie in the ninth when Ken Boyer drove in the run that knotted it with a single off Dick Farrell. The Colts, who trailed 4-0 after four innings, had moved ahead in the eighth on Merrit Ranew's first major-league homer and a run-scoring double by pitcher Jim Golden.

The game was the longest extra inning night game, by time, ever played in the NL.

Texas Open Field Draws 150 Golfers

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—A field of 150 started today in the opening round of the $30,000 Texas Open, with Arnold Palmer the heaviest pre-tournament favorite in the event's 38 years.

There wasn't anybody else mentioned, although there are as many top golfers here as the tournament ever saw. Winners of 16 of 21 tournaments this year, National Open Champion Gene Littler and more than 100 from the star-studded tour slashed at par 71 over the 6,616-yard Oak Hills Country Club course.

Palmer was seeking his third Texas Open championship in a row and he had a record back of him to indicate that he was playing about his finest golf.

Not only has Palmer won three tournaments already—one more than anybody else—but he is far ahead in the money parade. His total winnings have been $37,008.33.

Veterans Roberts, Labine Are Given Walking Papers

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—A couple of right-handers who once possessed two of the proudest names in baseball — Robin Roberts and Clem Labine — have been given their walking papers.

Roberts, who was baseball's winningest pitcher over one six-year period for the Philadelphia Phillies, drew his outright release from the New York Yankees Wednesday. Labine, a top relief man and pitching mainstay of the old Brooklyn Dodgers, was released by the New York Mets today.

Roberts is 35, Labine is 36. Each was overlooked in the expansion draft. Their outright release is the second for each. Each may be at the end of his baseball career, though Roberts says he doesn't intent to quit. Labine was not immediately available for comment.

Roberts, who won 234 games with the Phillies, was near tears as he packed his bag in the Yankee dressing room.

"I want to stay in baseball as an active player," he said. "Naturally, I am a little shocked at this release, but I think I am still capable of pitching."

He didn't pitch an inning for the Yankees this season. New York picked him up after he had been given his outright release by the Phillies after a 1-10 season last year.

"He didn't fit into our relief plans and I couldn't work him into the starting rotation," Yankee Manager Ralph Houk said. "It is our feeling that he should have every chance to get another job and it is for that reason that we are releasing him at this time."

Labine, who made a career as a relief man, played on four National League champion teams —Brooklyn in 1953, '55 and '56, and the Los Angeles Dodgers in 1959.

He and catcher Joe Ginsberg were released from the Mets to make way for catcher Harry Chiti, purchased outright from Cleveland, and right-handed pitcher Dave Hillman, purchased from Syracuse.

Labine, signed as a free agent after being dropped by Pittsburgh, worked in three games, all in relief, for the Mets this season.

Ridan was favored in the 1⅛ mile race, the last distance prep before the Kentucky Derby May 5 in Louisville.

Crimson Satan, who was judged last year's juvenile champion in two polls, was expected to give Ridan the most competition in the race for Derby eligibles.

NBA Adjourns Without Solving 2 Vital Matters

NEW YORK (AP)—The National Basketball Association's board of directors adjourned their spring meeting with two important matters still to be solved.

Selection of a successor to President Maurice Podoloff and possibility of the move of the Philadelphia Warrior franchise to San Francisco are expected to be the two chief topics when the directors resume their meeting May 3.

They adjourned Wednesday without receiving a formal application from Eddie Gottlieb, president of the Warriors, to move his club. A spokesman said the possibility of such a move was discussed informally.

Yesterday's Stars

Pitching — Bob Purkey, Reds, won his third without a loss, allowing only four hits in going distance for first time in 7-1 victory over New York Mets.

Batting—Andre Rodgers, Cubs, drove in five runs with sacrifice fly, double and a three-run homer in the eighth inning that snapped a 6-6 tie in 9-6 triumph over the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Cincy Would Like New York To Stay

CINCINNATI (AP)—"Too bad the New York Mets could not stay around a while longer," an official of the Cincinnati Reds regretfully said today.

The National League champions defeated Casey Stengel's club 7-1 Wednesday night as Bob Purkey knuckleballed his way to his third triumph of the season without a defeat. He allowed only four hits.

It was the second time in two nights the Reds had beat the Mets.

Purkey was elated at pitching the full nine innings for the first time this season.

"I had a real knuckleball for the first time this year," he said. "I found my trouble and have corrected it. I was twisting my body in such a way that I was pitching short-armed."

New York scored its only run in the first inning.

Cincinnati tied the game in the second on Wally Post's single, an out and Leo Cardenas' drive to center.

The Reds stored the game away in the third.

Don Blasingame walked after he was struck on the foot by pitcher Bob Miller. Eddie Kasko moved him to third on a hit to right. The first of Pinson's three hits brought in one run. After Frank Robinson walked to fill the bases, Gordie Coleman hit into a double play, during which Kasko scored. Post brought Pinson home with his second hit of the night.

Three more runs were made by the Reds in the sixth on three hits, including John Edwards' double and Cardenas' triple.

The Reds will not play today. They will open a series at St. Louis Friday. Joey Jay (2-2) will be the pitcher.

Bellaire, Springfield Host Big Relay Meets

Two big high school relay meets, tuneups for the May 25-26 state championships, are on tap this week.

Springfield, taking over as Ohio Wesleyan University abandoned its team relays after 30 years, presents the unique event in which depth is the answer. All races are four-man relays, and all field events are decided on the total performances of three from each school.

The other standout is at Bellaire, also Saturday, where the eighth annual fixture features 48 teams from Ohio, Kentucky, Michigan, Pennsylvania and West Virginia. Headliners there are Cleveland East Tech, winner of the Mansfield Relays, and Dayton Roosevelt, state Class AA champion.

Thirty Class AA and a dozen or so Class A teams, including Cincinnati DePorre's smaller-school state kings, will compete at Springfield. Other standouts are Springfield South, Dayton Dunbar, Springfield North, Sidney, Columbus East, Columbus North, London, Fairborn, Columbus Linden, Miami East, Marion, Springfield Shawnee, Upper Arlington, Troy, Worthington, West Carrollton, Kenton, Hilliards, Madison Trotwood, Hamilton Taft, Columbus Eastmoor and Delaware Hayes.

Columbus Opens IL Season With 12-To-8 Victory

By The Associated Press

The management of the Richmond Virginians had a good promotion stunt planned for Wednesday's International League opener. Two games—a day-night doubleheader—for the price of one.

A total of 8,446 watched as the Virginians split the twinbill with Buffalo, winning the day opener 12-0 and dropping the night affair 7-6.

In other openers Jacksonville rallied for four runs in the sixth inning to nip Syracuse 4-3, and Columbus racked five Toronto pitchers for 16 hits and a 12-8 victory. Atlanta's long-awaited debut was postponed by rain which wiped out a 2-1 Rochester lead after three innings.

Columbus, the defending IL champs, nearly had an early six-run lead wiped out by Toronto but got airtight relief from Ron Blackburn to pick up the victory.

Larry Carroll cleared the high jump bar at 5 feet, 6 inches and the mile relay team of Smith, Klembara, Diddle and Detchon won that event in 3:48.3.

The East Liverpool - Wellsville track and field meet Friday afternoon has been shifted from Wellsville to Patterson Field. The first event will begin at 4:15.

Bellaire, Springfield Host Big Relay Meets

Two big high school relay meets, tuneups for the May 25-26 state championships, are on tap this week.

Springfield, taking over as Ohio Wesleyan University abandoned its team relays after 30 years, presents the unique event in which depth is the answer. All races are four-man relays, and all field events are decided on the total performances of three from each school.

The other standout is at Bellaire, also Saturday, where the eighth annual fixture features 48 teams from Ohio, Kentucky, Michigan, Pennsylvania and West Virginia. Headliners there are Cleveland East Tech, winner of the Mansfield Relays, and Dayton Roosevelt, state Class AA champion.

Thirty Class AA and a dozen or so Class A teams, including Cincinnati DePorre's smaller-school state kings, will compete at Springfield. Other standouts are Springfield South, Dayton Dunbar, Springfield North, Sidney, Columbus East, Columbus North, London, Fairborn, Columbus Linden, Miami East, Marion, Springfield Shawnee, Upper Arlington, Troy, Worthington, West Carrollton, Kenton, Hilliards, Madison Trotwood, Hamilton Taft, Columbus Eastmoor and Delaware Hayes.

Columbus Opens IL Season With 12-To-8 Victory

By The Associated Press

The management of the Richmond Virginians had a good promotion stunt planned for Wednesday's International League opener. Two games—a day-night doubleheader—for the price of one.

A total of 8,446 watched as the Virginians split the twinbill with Buffalo, winning the day opener 12-0 and dropping the night affair 7-6.

In other openers Jacksonville rallied for four runs in the sixth inning to nip Syracuse 4-3, and Columbus racked five Toronto pitchers for 16 hits and a 12-8 victory. Atlanta's long-awaited debut was postponed by rain which wiped out a 2-1 Rochester lead after three innings.

Columbus, the defending IL champs, nearly had an early six-run lead wiped out by Toronto but got airtight relief from Ron Blackburn to pick up the victory.

Reconstruction Job Held Need In McElroy Office

By The Associated Press

While Atty. Gen. Mark McElroy continues his daily attacks on almost every phase of Gov. Michael V. DiSalle's performance in office, a candidate for McElroy's present post says "a reconstruction job" is needed in the office of Ohio's attorney general.

William B. Saxbe, attorney general in 1957-58 seeking Republican nomination to try to regain the job, said in Cleveland, "It is going to be up to us Republicans to restore decency and dignity to the biggest law office in Ohio." Saxbe said "the antics and shenanigans of the past three years are disgraceful" and "among lawyers throughout the state, the office is regarded at its lowest level of esteem in years."

McElroy meanwhile was bombarded with attempts by members of his own party—DiSalle's cabinet officers—to refute some of his criticisms and proposals. The attorney general is campaigning against DiSalle and Alexander G. Metrakos of Cleveland for the Democratic nomination for governor.

For instance, Dr. Robert A. Haines, director of the Mental Hygiene and Correction Department, pooh - poohed a McElroy plan to have a group of experts go into local communities to conduct courses in moral and ethical training for "predelinquent" children and their parents.

Haines said the basic responsibility should lie within the family, clergymen, religious leaders and educators in the local community.

Director Koder M. Collison of the Industrial and Economic Development Department termed illogical McElroy's advocacy of clauses in federal defense contracts obtained by Ohioans to require subcontracting within the state when feasible.

Collison pointed out that other states could put the shoe on the other foot by keeping subcontracts at home and not giving them to Ohio industry.

State Auditor James A. Rhodes, favorite for the Republican gubernatorial nomination but a wait-it-out latecomer to the primary campaign trail, got in his digs at DiSalle too. In Cleveland, Rhodes rapped DiSalle's money policies.

"I don't care what you call this," said Rhodes, "overcommitment, deficit spending deferred obligation or overdraft — they all mean the same thing."

And Rhodes' lone rival for nomination, William L. White of Mount Vernon, took swipes at DiSalle, McElroy and Rhodes. In a letter to the Cleveland League of Women Voters, White said Ohio taxpayers would save millions—if all three were pensioned for life.

2 Bound Over For Burglary

A Beechwood youth and a young Lisbon district man were bound over to the Grand Jury Wednesday afternoon in Municipal Court when each was arraigned on two charges filed in connection with a River Rd. scrap yard burglary March 10.

Both John Goempel, 18, of 207 Haywood St. and Thomas Lawrence, 20, of Lisbon R. D. 3 pleaded not guilty and waived preliminary burglary and motor vehicle theft in connection with the entering of the Caplan junk yard in which scrap metal worth $1,000 was hauled away in the owner's truck.

Judge Samuel M. Chertoff set bond at $1,500 on each charge. Both defendants were released after posting $6,000 property bonds.

Teamwork between the sheriff's office at Lisbon and the local police department led to the filing of charges against Goempel and Lawrence late the night of April 19.

Lawrence was one of three taken into custody earlier by the sheriff's department in connection with a burglary April 15 at the DAV Home at West Point. Two of the suspects in the DAV burglary were picked up by local police. They confessed and implicated Lawrence, officers said.

Meanwhile, Lawrence had been under surveillance by the local department in connection with the Caplan burglary. Lawrence then implicated Goempel in the River Rd. case.

Police said Goempel signed a statement in which he said he and Lawrence took the scrap from Caplan's yard, hauling it away in a half-ton pickup found at the River Rd. spot. The scrap was stored three weeks at Lawrence's home on Route 7, then sold to a Pittsburgh junk dealer, officers said. The truck later was found abandoned along Route 168 in Beaver County.

Lawrence and James Lee Kraft, 19, of Center St., Beechwood, have been held to the Grand Jury on burglary charges in connection with the DAV Home entry. They were arraigned before County Judge Herbert Arfman in East Palestine.

Firm Will Spend $2 Million At Its Mill In Benwood

WHEELING (AP) — The Wheeling Steel Corp. announced Wednesday it will undertake a $2 million improvement program at its Benwood plant as part of a plan to further strengthen its competitive position in the pipe market.

Plans for the project were outlined by William A. Steele, chairman and president, at the company's annual meeting.

The older of two continuous buttweld pipe mills installed at Benwood in 1939 will be abandoned. The newer mill installed in 1949 will be enlarged to produce the sizes and tonnage now handled by both mills.

The improvements are expected to be completed in 1963.

Operations at Benwood, the company said, have been at a rather slow pace for many months. Foreign competition was cited as one main reason.

They seek $5,000 each for personal injuries and the remainder for repair costs and for loss of revenue while the building was being repaired.

Hillyer was indicted by the April Grand Jury on second degree manslaughter.

Mental Effort Stymies Laggards

Of the thousands of letters I receive from parents in the course of a year concerning children over five, more than a third are about the child or youth who lags in one or all subjects at school. The tenor of these letters is that "He doesn't care, he doesn't try, he doesn't apply himself to his books." Sometimes the letter is about the child who does mediocre work, who lacks ambition to do better, of whom the teachers say he could excel if he only tried harder, or who rates very high on an intelligence test.

OFTEN THIS laggard is described as a poor reader. The chances are that most of them are low in reading skills.

One apparent factor in the average laggard written about is his lack of discipline in doing anything requiring effort. The older the child lacking in any or all these directions, the harder it is, obviously, to cause him to work and succeed up to his capacity.

Whether the child is lagging in the grades, high school or college, his parents usually just keep appealing to him or pressing him to strive harder, nagging at him, rebuking him or punishing him for every low or failing grade he gets.

Sometimes the school advises the parents of this type of child to command him to work harder at school and when the parents do, the child usually lags more.

THE SCHOOL would be wiser if it showed the parents in what directions they might cause the child to work harder and succeed better at school — how they might help at home, as soon as homework begins, to go at it promptly at a regular hour; practice him in comforming to some desirable family regulations and at doing some regular home jobs promptly and well; how they might help him learn more efficient ways of studying at home.

From about the third grade onward, practically every child will need to learn at home by heart certain items, such as the spelling of a brief list of words assigned at school; or in the grades, the basic number combinations; also memorizing in school a few definite meaningful facts and symbols he will need to have in his head the rest of his school life.

IF HE PURSUES a foreign language, he will need to memorize some of the vocabulary; also declensions and conjugations.

As I have pointed out before in this column, the average child will not, without essential requirement and supervision, keep himself at learning by rote these few essentials.

It means hard mental effort and the youngster inclines to avoid such effort when he can. Here is one direction in which parents may do something effective.

Tone-Ups Bolster Tired Desk Workers

How do you feel at the end of the working day — ready to dance or ready to drop? Sedentary job fatigue can be mental fatigue, plus tension. Using the small muscles over and over — the muscles of the hands, arms, the eyes—tends to build up tension. Then the muscles at the back of the neck ache.

Ida Jean Kain

The healthful way to dispel tension is through physical activity. To throw off that weariness, bring the big muscles of the body into play. And, by the way, working girls, these big muscles are the figure controllers, so a little exercise after a nervously exhausting day can bring you back to life and pull your figure out of the dumps.

—:—

WHAT KIND of exrecise is best? Whatever kind you enjoy most. If life has lost its zest and you're just plain bored, get out with other people. Do something that's fun as well as exercise, so that you're carried out of yourself.

Joining a dancing class or take up a sport. It requires a little effort to stir yourself into action, but it will be enormously rewarding. And once you start, you'll think what a chump you were not to have done something of the sort long ago.

I'll not argue with anyone who claims sports and outdoor activities afford the best possible exercise. Certainly they do. The exhilaration that comes from play is a tonic in itself.

Swimming, bowling, golf, skating, bicycling, riding, hiking ...all are wonderful. Digging in the garden and mowing the lawn are fine outdoor "sports" too. But as with all exercise, these activities only benefit those who do them...and with some regularity.

That is probably the hitch. There isn't enough time to devote to recreational activities of this type. Well, you can fall back on calisthenics. You may think... "How dull."

No, as a matter of fact they can keep you from feeling dull. To dispel tension, calisthenics should be the relaxing kind—slow and easy with gentle stretch-bends and smooth flowing movements to release tension from taut muscles.

—:—

RELAXED muscles relax the nerves, and that is why simple, rhythmic exercises can leave you feeling wonderfully peaceful. If the rhythms can be done to soothing music, all the better.

2 Bound Over For Burglary

A Beechwood youth and a young Lisbon district man were bound over to the Grand Jury Wednesday afternoon in Municipal Court when each was arraigned on two charges filed in connection with a River Rd. scrap yard burglary March 10.

Both John Goempel, 18, of 207 Haywood St. and Thomas Lawrence, 20, of Lisbon R. D. 3 pleaded not guilty and waived preliminary burglary and motor vehicle theft in connection with the entering of the Caplan junk yard in which scrap metal worth $1,000 was hauled away in the owner's truck.

Judge Samuel M. Chertoff set bond at $1,500 on each charge. Both defendants were released after posting $6,000 property bonds.

Teamwork between the sheriff's office at Lisbon and the local police department led to the filing of charges against Goempel and Lawrence late the night of April 19.

Lawrence was one of three taken into custody earlier by the sheriff's department in connection with a burglary April 15 at the DAV Home at West Point. Two of the suspects in the DAV burglary were picked up by local police. They confessed and implicated Lawrence, officers said.

Meanwhile, Lawrence had been under surveillance by the local department in connection with the Caplan burglary. Lawrence then implicated Goempel in the River Rd. case.

Police said Goempel signed a statement in which he said he and Lawrence took the scrap from Caplan's yard, hauling it away in a half-ton pickup found at the River Rd. spot. The scrap was stored three weeks at Lawrence's home on Route 7, then sold to a Pittsburgh junk dealer, officers said. The truck later was found abandoned along Route 168 in Beaver County.

Lawrence and James Lee Kraft, 19, of Center St., Beechwood, have been held to the Grand Jury on burglary charges in connection with the DAV Home entry. They were arraigned before County Judge Herbert Arfman in East Palestine.

U.S. Spacemen Could Die From Colds In Flight

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—America's astronauts may survive radiation, meteors and other hazards only to die of common colds during space flights, an Air Force scientist says.

The Air Force is concerned enough to have ordered extensive studies on probable effects of virus-caused ailments during space voyages.

The studies at the School of Aerospace Medicine at Brooks Air Force Base here deal with two main areas, says Dr. Seymour S. Kalter, head of the virology laboratory:

1. Effects of the stresses of space on viruses carried by astronauts, and

2. Effects of the stresses of space on the astronauts carrying the viruses.

"Stresses" is a key word, because of medical discoveries about what stresses do to the body.

Reacting to stress, the body releases two kinds of hormones—inflammatory and anti-inflammatory. They act to control each other, but can get out of balance.

Inflammatory hormones cause inflammation of the vascular (blood-circulation) system and joints, raise the blood pressure and cause gout.

Anti-inflammatory hormones decrease the body's resistance to infection.

This is why some scientists fear common colds or other relatively harmless ailments could turn into killers in space.

A few of the larger and more complex viruses — which cause colds — are affected by antibiotics, Kalter said. Others, such as polio, can be checked by preventive inoculations. But doctors have no specific weapons against most viruses.

Radiation causes mutations in living things, Kalter said. These changes could turn a normally harmless virus into a killer, or a killer into a harmless virus.

Thomas A. Edison holds the record for the number of patents obtained by an individual. He secured 1,097 patents during his career.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—America's astronauts may survive radiation, meteors and other hazards only to die of common colds during space flights, an Air Force scientist says.

The Air Force is concerned enough to have ordered extensive studies on probable effects of virus-caused ailments during space voyages.

The studies at the School of Aerospace Medicine at Brooks Air Force Base here deal with two main areas, says Dr. Seymour S. Kalter, head of the virology laboratory:

1. Effects of the stresses of space on viruses carried by astronauts, and

2. Effects of the stresses of space on the astronauts carrying the viruses.

"Stresses" is a key word, because of medical discoveries about what stresses do to the body.

Reacting to stress, the body releases two kinds of hormones—inflammatory and anti-inflammatory. They act to control each other, but can get out of balance.

Inflammatory hormones cause inflammation of the vascular (blood-circulation) system and joints, raise the blood pressure and cause gout.

Anti-inflammatory hormones decrease the body's resistance to infection.

This is why some scientists fear common colds or other relatively harmless ailments could turn into killers in space.

A few of the larger and more complex viruses — which cause colds — are affected by antibiotics, Kalter said. Others, such as polio, can be checked by preventive inoculations. But doctors have no specific weapons against most viruses.

Radiation causes mutations in living things, Kalter said. These changes could turn a normally harmless virus into a killer, or a killer into a harmless virus.

Former Wellsville Teacher Subject Of Magazine Article

A former Wellsville High School teacher has gained national recognition through her social work with New York City street gangs.

Miss Rochelle Hood, 26, former Spanish instructor at Wellsville, is one of three young women pictured in the forthcoming issue of the Saturday Evening Post magazine and listed as "street-gang peacemakers." The article is entitled "People on the Way Up."

Phillippine-born, she is a member of New York City Youth Board's Street - Club Project. There are 155 street - club workers and she is one of the six women employed in the project.

She also has the distinction of being the first girl worker, having joined the project in October of 1960.

She said in the article that she had few discipline problems while teaching at Wellsville but wanted to learn more about handling difficult youths. This led her to New York where she first found a job working with "debs," girl auxiliaries of the boy gangs," in an effort to rehabilitate them.

Her area is the lower Bronx. Her working hours are from 2to 11 p. m., five days a week. Her assignment, along with the other women workers, is to gain the confidence of the delinquent girls and show them another way of life.

Miss Hood studied at Memphis State Teachers College. Her mother is a Filipino. Her father, an American mining engineer, was ambushed and killed by Igorot tribesmen while she was a teenager.

Fourteen Chester firemen quelled a brush fire on the Washington School Rd. about four miles south of the city late Wednesday morning.

Clevelander Sells Good Business To Become Teacher

CLEVELAND (AP) — Herbert Mager has sold his gasoline station, which grossed $480,000 a year, to become a high school teacher.

The 41-year-old Mager and his wife, Daisy, a free lance commercial artist, attended Western University last summer. She also is giving up her art career to become a teacher.

"We are going back to school in June but will keep right on going around the calendar for 2½ years so we can get our degrees," Mager said Wednesday.

"When I got out of the Navy after World War II, my ambition was to be a millionaire and drive a Cadillac," Mager said. "But a few years ago my ideas changed. There is more to the world than making money, I thought, and that is all I've done. It was ridiculous."

Former Wellsville Teacher Subject Of Magazine Article

A former Wellsville High School teacher has gained national recognition through her social work with New York City street gangs.

Miss Rochelle Hood, 26, former Spanish instructor at Wellsville, is one of three young women pictured in the forthcoming issue of the Saturday Evening Post magazine and listed as "street-gang peacemakers." The article is entitled "People on the Way Up."

Phillippine-born, she is a member of New York City Youth Board's Street - Club Project. There are 155 street - club workers and she is one of the six women employed in the project.

She also has the distinction of being the first girl worker, having joined the project in October of 1960.

She said in the article that she had few discipline problems while teaching at Wellsville but wanted to learn more about handling difficult youths. This led her to New York where she first found a job working with "debs," girl auxiliaries of the boy gangs," in an effort to rehabilitate them.

Her area is the lower Bronx. Her working hours are from 2to 11 p. m., five days a week. Her assignment, along with the other women workers, is to gain the confidence of the delinquent girls and show them another way of life.

Miss Hood studied at Memphis State Teachers College. Her mother is a Filipino. Her father, an American mining engineer, was ambushed and killed by Igorot tribesmen while she was a teenager.

14 Chester Firemen Called On Grass Fire

Fourteen Chester firemen quelled a brush fire on the Washington School Rd. about four miles south of the city late Wednesday morning.

Firemen said Blaine Smith, who was burning tires, notified another neighbor who called firemen.

If you've inherited some old cookery utensils from Grandmamma, get them out and use them. Pie crimpers and wheels, pie-dough scrapers, bread - stick and rosette pans still work well.

Clevelander Sells Good Business To Become Teacher

CLEVELAND (AP) — Herbert Mager has sold his gasoline station, which grossed $480,000 a year, to become a high school teacher.

The 41-year-old Mager and his wife, Daisy, a free lance commercial artist, attended Western University last summer. She also is giving up her art career to become a teacher.

"We are going back to school in June but will keep right on going around the calendar for 2½ years so we can get our degrees," Mager said Wednesday.

"When I got out of the Navy after World War II, my ambition was to be a millionaire and drive a Cadillac," Mager said. "But a few years ago my ideas changed. There is more to the world than making money, I thought, and that is all I've done. It was ridiculous."

Out Of The Air

By ALAN GILL

Rembrance Of Past Things

It was like old times. Tuesday night last week all the television networks collaborated to bring us a reminder of the way television used to be, like that collection of scenes from Harold Lloyd's movies that is beginning to make the rounds.

Alan Gill

There was, for example, Tad Mosel's drama, "That's Where the Town's Going." The title itself gave us the feeling that we'd gone with this particular town before.

And then, after a few moments of exposition, there came the flash of recognition. We were back—all of us—with "Studio 1" and "Philco Playhouse." We were in the midst of a parody of the elemental television play, circa 1949.

IT MAY BE WELL to review the four primary rules that may have been laid out that year in the Television Writer's Guide.

Rule 1 was: When you're writing for television, write about middle-aged loneliness; no other will do. (Early television dramatists like Foote, Cheyevsky and Aurthur no doubt hear the train whistle in the distance still; but they're writing about things like venegance and mysticism and cocktail parties and racial strife these days. Only Mosel continues to use the whistle as his threnody.)

Rule 2: Make your heroine a tongue smacker. This entails the seeking out of an actress adept at the art of bunching her tongue up behind her upper teeth and then giving it (the tongue) a snap. She is to employ this sound whenever an exclamation point is indicated in the script. Other bits of punctuation are to be vocalized by means of giggles, quick sighs and lady-like grunts.

Rule 3: The hero must be a door-to-door salesman type. A bursting laugh, a long cigar, a loud tie, thumbs hooked behind the galluses—each of these devices is strongly recommended. (The hero of "That's Where the Town's Going" wore orange shoes and proposed to girls at a place called Moon Lake.)

And finally: The climax must leave the characters "stuck"—stuck in a dying town, stuck with each other, stuck with themselves.

THAT NIGHT, a good actress named Kim Stanley sensitively played the lonely spinster. And she did it with more tongue smacking than I've heard since Uncle Don used to deliver those candy bar commercials.

If one were to take all her utterances, and cull out the words from them, the residue would comprise, I would guess, a striking background score for a documentary film dealing with the matingof blowfish.

With all of its old-fashioned faults, though, "That's Where the Town's Going" was at least an ambitious piece of television writing. (It was TV all the way—close, quiet, personal, evocative—and a viewer could never imagine its being written for theater or film.)

It also had good acting from Jason Robards as the disturber of the peace and Buddy Ebsen as a whistle-stop Lothario. But the drama had a soggy bygone air—as though Tennessee Williams were rewriting the collected works of George M. Cohan.

THE SAME NIGHT, we had "Rainbow of Stars," a musical melange set in Rockefeller Center—a gray, uninteresting Stonehedge, that exists in the heart of midtown Manhattan.

Singers (Robert Goulet) strode stiffly through it in raincoats, clowns (Nancy Walker) showed off and nobody laughed, ice skaters and ballet groups and boy choirs did their turns (to little avail), and only Carol Lawrence surmounted the setting with verve enough to make us disbelieve that Jerry Lester was coming on in a moment, or Morey Amsterdam, or Dagmar.

On this night of continued simplicity on television, viewers in New York and Washington were allowed to listen to a great lady (Dorothy Stickney) reciting excerpts from the letters and poems of another great lady (Edna St. Vincent Millay).

I'm certain that you eventually will get to see these "Festival of the Performing Arts" programs only because something so good cannot stay in solitary confinement for long.

Overtime Pay Cut Held Way To More Jobs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Close to a million jobs could be created if the substantial overtime being worked in manufacturing industries could be somehow eliminated and the work turned over to the unemployed.

One of the major inequities of the nation's economic situation is that, with millions unemployed, workers who have jobs are enjoying almost unprecedented earnings because of a great deal of overtime at bonus rates.

The government reports that factory workers, for example, averaged 2.6 hours of overtime a week during March.

If these overtime hours were denied to workers already on factory payrolls and idled employes rehired to do the work, a sizable dent would be made in the nation's 4.4 million unemployed total. The total would be reduced still more if the same thing were done in nonmanufacturing industries.

Why isn't this done? Why do employers prefer to pay workers 1½ times their regular rate of pay for substantial amounts of overtime, rather than recall experienced workers, still on layoff from the recession, to do the work at the cheaper straight time rate of pay?

The answer, according to the experts, is that while a certain amount of overtime work is always necessary because of rush jobs and need for particularly skilled workmen, the situation is aggravated now by several factors.

Employers hesitate to take on responsibilities involved in hiring new workers when they are uncertain about long-term business conditions.

Another reason is the cost of fringe benefits. It has become cheaper in some cases to pay the overtime premium for extra hours than to take back former workers and the obligations for fringe benefit costs and payroll taxes. With one worker these costs are paid only once, with two workers twice.

The cost differential favoring overtime is not always true, but it is in enough cases now when employers may see enough work ahead for several months for extra employes but not enough work beyond that.

Labor union leaders are reported to have broached the problem to President Kennedy at a recent White House conference. Nothing was decided, but the union men are considering a plea to Congress to boost the overtime penalty to double time, or twice the regular pay rate.

The purpose would be to discourage overtime and hiring of extra workers.

Up to now the unions have favored reducing the 40-hour work week limit provided in the fair labor standards (wage-hour) law as a step to share the available work. With Kennedy on record as opposed to a shorter work week, unions may espouse the greater overtime penalty as an alternate method of work time sharing.

Suspensions Of 3 Officers Set Aside

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP) — The suspensions of three Middletown policeman have been set aside by City Manager Charles W. Thompson.

Thompson set aside the suspensions Wednesday after a review of the cases. The officers were accused of neglect of duty in the way they handled the case of detective James Frazier after the detective's auto struck a parked car early this month.

Police Chief Joseph Blackmore had ordered the officers to be suspended for two days each.

Frazier was cited in Municipal Court and fined $10 and costs. Thompson said the procedure of instruction and filing of charges against Frazier resulted in such confusion it was hard to pinpoint the blame.

Bids Will Be Opened On County Road Work

Bids for improvement of a section of Route 164 south of Gavers will be opened Tuesday at Columbus by the Ohio Department of Highways.

The project includes widening and improvement of the roadway grade for two-tenths of a mile, starting 200 feet south of Route 518, and replacement of a bridge over the west fork of Beaver Creek.

County Clinics Inoculate 23,000 In Polio Program

Balmy weather Wednesday apparently lured some prospective polio vaccine recipients from mass clinics held throughout Columbiana County, but about 23,000 took the Sabin oral doses, the County Medical Society reported today.

Although the number immunized yesterday with Type III vaccine dipped some from the first of two Type I clinics held in March, physicians believe the number will pick up Saturday for the final Type III clinic.

Dr. Leonard Pritchard of Columbiana, head of the county campaign, estimated over 23,000 received the oral vaccine at 11 centers held throughout the county yesterday.

The total attending the three East Liverpool area clinics was 2,933 — Westgate School had 1,370, Calcutta fire station 876 and East Junior High School 687.

Wellsville reported 642, while Salineville had 790, the tabulation showed.

Elsewhere in the county, turnouts were 5,101 at Salem, 2,907 at Columbiana, 2,036 at Lisbon, 2,608 at East Palestine, 1,623 at Leetonia and 1,960 at United School at Hanoverton.

Dr. Pritchard and Dr. Alex Fisher, co-chairman of the East Liverpool drive, said they expect larger turnouts for Saturday's clinics.

Dr. Fisher reminded adults the Saturday clinic will be the last opportunity in the program to obtain the Sabin vaccine for Type III polio, a bulbar type which is most prevalent in this district.

The doctors urged all who have not obtained the immunization to attend the clinic Saturday as part of the medical society's drive to end polio in the county.

The oral vaccine, a tasteless liquor without any after-effects, not only immunizes the individual against polio but prevents spread of the disease through carriers.

The Type II vaccine is tentatively slated to be provided at mass clinics May 23 and May 26, the final in the series.

Cost of the doses is only 50 cents, or free to those unable to pay, physicians said.

Clinics are planned in Cleveland where they are starting with the Type III vaccine because of the prevalency of bulbar type of polio.

Dr. Fisher said the county society would have started with that type except that it was not licensed by the U. S. Department of Health until after the mass clinics had been scheduled with the Type I.

Students To Receive Vaccine At 2 Schools

Students here and in Beaver Local School District will receive the doses today and Friday.

At Wellsville — where schools are closed as part of the Easter vacation—students will get the doses Monday.

All U.S. Atomic Tests Will Be Announced

WASHINGTON (AP)—All of the American nuclear tests in the Pacific will be announced when they are held—a departure from past practice.

A spokesman for the Atomic Energy Commission said in answer to a question:

"All tests will be announced. The plan is to announce each test individually."

Trailer Spills Cargo

LISBON — A tractor-trailer rig from Erie spilled part of its load of roofing material and flashing cement on the sidewalk of the Public Square while making a turn from Route 45 Wednesday and Police Chief Dalton Pike said the driver reported he had swung wide to avoid a car and the sideboards gave away. A passerby, the Rev. William Spangler of the First Christian Church, helped the driver reload his cargo.

Beaver Pays Bond Issue

BEAVER — Reducing bonded indebtedness, Beaver County commissioners have recalled a 1959 series bonds used to furnish the new county home and hospital.

The bonds amounted to $415,000. The principal was $325,000 and about $4,671.87 had been paid in interest due this year.

By paying the bonds off in three years instead of 10, the county saved $32,200 in interest, James Ross, commissioner chairman, said.

The money was paid from cash reserves accumulated for such purposes over the last two years.

The institutional district bonded indebtedness of $2,235,000 will be reduced by $115,000 in October on the yearly payment date. This indebtedness is for the County Home and Hospital.

The general county indebtedness is $2,660,000 and will be reduced by $120,000 this year. It includes construction of the juvenile home, the East Rochester-Monaca bridge and the county's recent new tax assessment program.

The total indebtedness of the county is $4,895,000.

Chester Group To Buy Sweeper

A holding payment has been made for the purchase of a used street sweeper for Chester, according to Don Chaney of Carolina Ave., heading a drive for contributions for the machine.

Chaney said $560 has been contributed toward the $800 price of the 1954 sweeper which has a sprinkler system, four new tires, extra set of brushes and cost $14,000 when new.

Hubert Myers, street commissioner, told nine attending a public meeting Tuesday night the machine is in "good" condition.

The sweeper was one of three pieces of equipment offered Council last week by the Thruway Co. of Pittsburgh, but Council lacked funds to purchase them.

Chaney said anyone desiring to contribute may notify him or Dale Allison. He said $100 has already been paid on the equipment.

Out Of The Air

By ALAN GILL

Rembrance Of Past Things

It was like old times. Tuesday night last week all the television networks collaborated to bring us a reminder of the way television used to be, like that collection of scenes from Harold Lloyd's movies that is beginning to make the rounds.

Alan Gill

There was, for example, Tad Mosel's drama, "That's Where the Town's Going." The title itself gave us the feeling that we'd gone with this particular town before.

And then, after a few moments of exposition, there came the flash of recognition. We were back—all of us—with "Studio 1" and "Philco Playhouse." We were in the midst of a parody of the elemental television play, circa 1949.

IT MAY BE WELL to review the four primary rules that may have been laid out that year in the Television Writer's Guide.

Rule 1 was: When you're writing for television, write about middle-aged loneliness; no other will do. (Early television dramatists like Foote, Cheyevsky and Aurthur no doubt hear the train whistle in the distance still; but they're writing about things like venegance and mysticism and cocktail parties and racial strife these days. Only Mosel continues to use the whistle as his threnody.)

Rule 2: Make your heroine a tongue smacker. This entails the seeking out of an actress adept at the art of bunching her tongue up behind her upper teeth and then giving it (the tongue) a snap. She is to employ this sound whenever an exclamation point is indicated in the script. Other bits of punctuation are to be vocalized by means of giggles, quick sighs and lady-like grunts.

Rule 3: The hero must be a door-to-door salesman type. A bursting laugh, a long cigar, a loud tie, thumbs hooked behind the galluses—each of these devices is strongly recommended. (The hero of "That's Where the Town's Going" wore orange shoes and proposed to girls at a place called Moon Lake.)

And finally: The climax must leave the characters "stuck"—stuck in a dying town, stuck with each other, stuck with themselves.

THAT NIGHT, a good actress named Kim Stanley sensitively played the lonely spinster. And she did it with more tongue smacking than I've heard since Uncle Don used to deliver those candy bar commercials.

If one were to take all her utterances, and cull out the words from them, the residue would comprise, I would guess, a striking background score for a documentary film dealing with the matingof blowfish.

With all of its old-fashioned faults, though, "That's Where the Town's Going" was at least an ambitious piece of television writing. (It was TV all the way—close, quiet, personal, evocative—and a viewer could never imagine its being written for theater or film.)

It also had good acting from Jason Robards as the disturber of the peace and Buddy Ebsen as a whistle-stop Lothario. But the drama had a soggy bygone air—as though Tennessee Williams were rewriting the collected works of George M. Cohan.

THE SAME NIGHT, we had "Rainbow of Stars," a musical melange set in Rockefeller Center—a gray, uninteresting Stonehedge, that exists in the heart of midtown Manhattan.

Singers (Robert Goulet) strode stiffly through it in raincoats, clowns (Nancy Walker) showed off and nobody laughed, ice skaters and ballet groups and boy choirs did their turns (to little avail), and only Carol Lawrence surmounted the setting with verve enough to make us disbelieve that Jerry Lester was coming on in a moment, or Morey Amsterdam, or Dagmar.

On this night of continued simplicity on television, viewers in New York and Washington were allowed to listen to a great lady (Dorothy Stickney) reciting excerpts from the letters and poems of another great lady (Edna St. Vincent Millay).

I'm certain that you eventually will get to see these "Festival of the Performing Arts" programs only because something so good cannot stay in solitary confinement for long.

Overtime Pay Cut Held Way To More Jobs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Close to a million jobs could be created if the substantial overtime being worked in manufacturing industries could be somehow eliminated and the work turned over to the unemployed.

One of the major inequities of the nation's economic situation is that, with millions unemployed, workers who have jobs are enjoying almost unprecedented earnings because of a great deal of overtime at bonus rates.

The government reports that factory workers, for example, averaged 2.6 hours of overtime a week during March.

If these overtime hours were denied to workers already on factory payrolls and idled employes rehired to do the work, a sizable dent would be made in the nation's 4.4 million unemployed total. The total would be reduced still more if the same thing were done in nonmanufacturing industries.

Why isn't this done? Why do employers prefer to pay workers 1½ times their regular rate of pay for substantial amounts of overtime, rather than recall experienced workers, still on layoff from the recession, to do the work at the cheaper straight time rate of pay?

The answer, according to the experts, is that while a certain amount of overtime work is always necessary because of rush jobs and need for particularly skilled workmen, the situation is aggravated now by several factors.

Employers hesitate to take on responsibilities involved in hiring new workers when they are uncertain about long-term business conditions.

Another reason is the cost of fringe benefits. It has become cheaper in some cases to pay the overtime premium for extra hours than to take back former workers and the obligations for fringe benefit costs and payroll taxes. With one worker these costs are paid only once, with two workers twice.

The cost differential favoring overtime is not always true, but it is in enough cases now when employers may see enough work ahead for several months for extra employes but not enough work beyond that.

Labor union leaders are reported to have broached the problem to President Kennedy at a recent White House conference. Nothing was decided, but the union men are considering a plea to Congress to boost the overtime penalty to double time, or twice the regular pay rate.

The purpose would be to discourage overtime and hiring of extra workers.

Up to now the unions have favored reducing the 40-hour work week limit provided in the fair labor standards (wage-hour) law as a step to share the available work. With Kennedy on record as opposed to a shorter work week, unions may espouse the greater overtime penalty as an alternate method of work time sharing.

Suspensions Of 3 Officers Set Aside

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP) — The suspensions of three Middletown policeman have been set aside by City Manager Charles W. Thompson.

Thompson set aside the suspensions Wednesday after a review of the cases. The officers were accused of neglect of duty in the way they handled the case of detective James Frazier after the detective's auto struck a parked car early this month.

Police Chief Joseph Blackmore had ordered the officers to be suspended for two days each.

Frazier was cited in Municipal Court and fined $10 and costs. Thompson said the procedure of instruction and filing of charges against Frazier resulted in such confusion it was hard to pinpoint the blame.

Bids Will Be Opened On County Road Work

Bids for improvement of a section of Route 164 south of Gavers will be opened Tuesday at Columbus by the Ohio Department of Highways.

The project includes widening and improvement of the roadway grade for two-tenths of a mile, starting 200 feet south of Route 518, and replacement of a bridge over the west fork of Beaver Creek.

County Clinics Inoculate 23,000 In Polio Program

Balmy weather Wednesday apparently lured some prospective polio vaccine recipients from mass clinics held throughout Columbiana County, but about 23,000 took the Sabin oral doses, the County Medical Society reported today.

Although the number immunized yesterday with Type III vaccine dipped some from the first of two Type I clinics held in March, physicians believe the number will pick up Saturday for the final Type III clinic.

Dr. Leonard Pritchard of Columbiana, head of the county campaign, estimated over 23,000 received the oral vaccine at 11 centers held throughout the county yesterday.

The total attending the three East Liverpool area clinics was 2,933 — Westgate School had 1,370, Calcutta fire station 876 and East Junior High School 687.

Wellsville reported 642, while Salineville had 790, the tabulation showed.

Elsewhere in the county, turnouts were 5,101 at Salem, 2,907 at Columbiana, 2,036 at Lisbon, 2,608 at East Palestine, 1,623 at Leetonia and 1,960 at United School at Hanoverton.

Dr. Pritchard and Dr. Alex Fisher, co-chairman of the East Liverpool drive, said they expect larger turnouts for Saturday's clinics.

Dr. Fisher reminded adults the Saturday clinic will be the last opportunity in the program to obtain the Sabin vaccine for Type III polio, a bulbar type which is most prevalent in this district.

The doctors urged all who have not obtained the immunization to attend the clinic Saturday as part of the medical society's drive to end polio in the county.

The oral vaccine, a tasteless liquor without any after-effects, not only immunizes the individual against polio but prevents spread of the disease through carriers.

The Type II vaccine is tentatively slated to be provided at mass clinics May 23 and May 26, the final in the series.

Cost of the doses is only 50 cents, or free to those unable to pay, physicians said.

Clinics are planned in Cleveland where they are starting with the Type III vaccine because of the prevalency of bulbar type of polio.

Dr. Fisher said the county society would have started with that type except that it was not licensed by the U. S. Department of Health until after the mass clinics had been scheduled with the Type I.

Students To Receive Vaccine At 2 Schools

Students here and in Beaver Local School District will receive the doses today and Friday.

At Wellsville — where schools are closed as part of the Easter vacation—students will get the doses Monday.

All U.S. Atomic Tests Will Be Announced

WASHINGTON (AP)—All of the American nuclear tests in the Pacific will be announced when they are held—a departure from past practice.

A spokesman for the Atomic Energy Commission said in answer to a question:

"All tests will be announced. The plan is to announce each test individually."

Trailer Spills Cargo

LISBON — A tractor-trailer rig from Erie spilled part of its load of roofing material and flashing cement on the sidewalk of the Public Square while making a turn from Route 45 Wednesday and Police Chief Dalton Pike said the driver reported he had swung wide to avoid a car and the sideboards gave away. A passerby, the Rev. William Spangler of the First Christian Church, helped the driver reload his cargo.

Beaver Pays Bond Issue

BEAVER — Reducing bonded indebtedness, Beaver County commissioners have recalled a 1959 series bonds used to furnish the new county home and hospital.

The bonds amounted to $415,000. The principal was $325,000 and about $4,671.87 had been paid in interest due this year.

By paying the bonds off in three years instead of 10, the county saved $32,200 in interest, James Ross, commissioner chairman, said.

The money was paid from cash reserves accumulated for such purposes over the last two years.

The institutional district bonded indebtedness of $2,235,000 will be reduced by $115,000 in October on the yearly payment date. This indebtedness is for the County Home and Hospital.

The general county indebtedness is $2,660,000 and will be reduced by $120,000 this year. It includes construction of the juvenile home, the East Rochester-Monaca bridge and the county's recent new tax assessment program.

The total indebtedness of the county is $4,895,000.

Chester Group To Buy Sweeper

A holding payment has been made for the purchase of a used street sweeper for Chester, according to Don Chaney of Carolina Ave., heading a drive for contributions for the machine.

Chaney said $560 has been contributed toward the $800 price of the 1954 sweeper which has a sprinkler system, four new tires, extra set of brushes and cost $14,000 when new.

Hubert Myers, street commissioner, told nine attending a public meeting Tuesday night the machine is in "good" condition.

The sweeper was one of three pieces of equipment offered Council last week by the Thruway Co. of Pittsburgh, but Council lacked funds to purchase them.

Chaney said anyone desiring to contribute may notify him or Dale Allison. He said $100 has already been paid on the equipment.

Brush, Timber Fires Hit Hard In Ohio Areas

COSHOCTON, Ohio (AP)—Widespread brush and timber fires burned hundreds of acres in the Plainfield-Newcomerstown area of Coshocton and Tuscarawas counties before being brought under control Wednesday night.

No injuries were reported, but two unoccupied homes near Plainfield, 10 miles southeast of here, and two barns were destoryed. Newcomerstown and neighboring firefighters kept flames from reaching two occupied farmhouses three miles south of that Tuscarawas County community.

The fire in southeastern Coshocton County was described as covering a seven to eight mile radius. It seared Peabody Coal Co. property earmarked for strip-mining and for a Columbus & Southern Ohio Electric Co. generating station.

Tuscarawas County officials said sparks from a Pennsylvania Railroad diesel engine pulling a freight touched off the blaze there.

2 Brothers Get Prison For Cincinnati Holdup

CINCINNATI (AP)—Both Lester E. Murphy, 31, and his brother, Robert, 20, have been sentenced to prison terms for a number of holdups in the greater Cincinnati area.

The Murphy brothers, both of Piketon, were arrested March 3 on a tip by Chillicothe police who later questioned them about a number of armed robberies Chillicothe and Waverly.

Common Pleas Court Judge Carson Hoy sentenced Lester to three concurrent 10-25 year terms in Ohio Penitentiary. Robert was sentenced to concurrent indeterminate terms in the reformatory.

New Contract Grants Wage Hike For 2,200

CLEVELAND (AP) — Agreement on a two-year contract providing wages increases for 2,200 employes of the Cleveland Electric Illuminating Co. was reached Wednesday.

A spokesman for AFL-CIO Utility Workers Union Local 270 said the proposal is subject to ratification of the membership at the May meeting. The pact calls for an average wage increases of seven cents hourly. Operating, maintenance and construction employes of Local 270 work in CEI plants in Cleveland, Ashtabula and Avon.

Brush, Timber Fires Hit Hard In Ohio Areas

COSHOCTON, Ohio (AP)—Widespread brush and timber fires burned hundreds of acres in the Plainfield-Newcomerstown area of Coshocton and Tuscarawas counties before being brought under control Wednesday night.

No injuries were reported, but two unoccupied homes near Plainfield, 10 miles southeast of here, and two barns were destoryed. Newcomerstown and neighboring firefighters kept flames from reaching two occupied farmhouses three miles south of that Tuscarawas County community.

The fire in southeastern Coshocton County was described as covering a seven to eight mile radius. It seared Peabody Coal Co. property earmarked for strip-mining and for a Columbus & Southern Ohio Electric Co. generating station.

Tuscarawas County officials said sparks from a Pennsylvania Railroad diesel engine pulling a freight touched off the blaze there.

Common Pleas Court Judge Carson Hoy sentenced Lester to three concurrent 10-25 year terms in Ohio Penitentiary. Robert was sentenced to concurrent indeterminate terms in the reformatory.

Junior Editors Quiz on CANARY ISLANDS

QUESTION: How did the Canary Islands get their name?

ANSWER: Strangely enough, the Canary Islands were named after wild dogs. The Latin word for dog is very much like "canary" and when the group of islands was first noticed, there were many fierce, wild dogs running around, so the name seemed a logical choice. These islands are a part of Spain. They are located in the Atlantic Ocean, off the coast of Africa. There were, along with the dogs, lovely songbirds on the islands. At that time the birds were a brownish-grey with just a few birds slightly brighter. People were captivated with the lovely little birds and many of the birds were sold on the Continent and in America as Canary birds. Through very careful breeding, people managed to develop these birds into the lovely yellow creatures they are today. Canaries are perhaps the most popular of bird pets. They are naturally fine singers and can imitate many musical sounds, if trained patiently. The bright, cheerful birds have carried the name of the Canary Islands far and wide.

FOR YOU TO DO: Settling on a small, uninhabited island takes a great deal of courage and cleverness, but many people have done it. There are still hundreds of islands where no one lives, which are open to settlers. If you were to decide to build a home on such an island, what would you take along? What skills would you have to learn?

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: Last summer I introduced a casual friend to my unmarried brother. They hit it off well together and have become a steady twosome.

My brother lives in an apartment a few blocks from us, so it's convenient for him to pick her up at our place. I told Geraldine to come over whenever she feels like it.

Now I see I made a big mistake. She drives over in the morning for breakfast — usually in her nightgown. She throws a coat over a flimsy negligee and that's that. She pulls a chair right up to the breakfast table and carries on a conversation with my husband — talking right past me. He doesn't take his eyes off her.

Geraldine is here when my husband comes home for dinner. They have a drink together while I'm in the kitchen cooking. When my brother arrives the three of them have a ball.

I'm getting fed up on this arrangement. How can I unwind it?—TOO THICK.

Dear Too Thick: Inviting people to "come over whenever they feel like it" opens the floodgates for all sorts of trouble.

Now, nothing short of a girl-to-girl talk will work. Tell Geraldine that her charming company interferes with your housework and from now on you'll invite her over when you can do justice to a visit.

This undoubtedly will chill the relationship but I'm sure you won't mind seeing a great deal less of her.

Sick Jokester

Dear Ann: I need your opinion. Maybe I'm the one who is crazy. Or can it be that I have no sense of humor?

Recently I attended a card party at the home of a friend, who is supposed to be a member of the socially elite. This is what happened. After the cards and refreshments, she brought out a tin can on which was pasted a homemade label.

It read, "Please Help the Mentally Ill. Give or I'll Kill You."

The guests reached into their purses and every woman present dropped in some coins or pushed a dollar bill through the slot. When the other women left I turned to the hostess and asked, "What is that money really for?"

She replied with a perfectly straight face, "I started it as a gag and I've had a barrel of fun. I've also collected a lot of money. I'm going to buy a new bedspread."

I think this is the height of crudeness. My husband thought it was funny. What's your opinion?—E AND M.

Dear E and M: I think it's appalling. Mental illness is nothing to joke about. The hostess is a clod.

What is even worse, however, is that many guests probably did not recognize it as a gag. They thought they were donating to help the mentally ill.

Faded Romance

Dear Ann: My head is going around in circles. I was engaged to my childhood sweetheart just before he went into the service. I never went with any other fellow except Tim. He's been away for 11 months.

Last Christmas I visited relatives in Connecticut. My uncle has a fellow working for him who came along one night to "round out the party." It wasn't even considered a date because he knew I was engaged. We got along swell (lots of laughs) and the next day he came ice fishing with us.

To make a long story short, we had a great time together—purely platonic. Then he kissed me goodbye and everything changed. I haven't seen him since but his letters thrill me more than my fiance's.

If I could spend tomorrow evening with one of these two fellows it wouldn't be Tim. Tim expects to marry me when he comes home. What shall I do?—WHIRLING DERVISH.

Dear Dervish: You aren't ready for marriage — to anyone. When Tim comes home, return his ring and date other fellows.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.
